Sewer victory

A comprehensive sanitary sewer installation project here may be able to move from the planning state to reality in 1978. The Press-Record learned yesterday afternoon that the sewer issue has been upheld by the Illinois Supreme Court.

The high court, in a Jan. 26 order that was disclosed Wednesday, ruled that a Fifth Appellate District finding on the mammoth Quad-City sewer program is final.

In declining to accept an appeal of the appellate-level approval, the Supreme Court justices indicated they feel appropriate procedures have been followed by Madison County and township officials in developing the construction and financing proposal.

Several residents had objected to the sewer installation general obligation bond program, preventing implementation of the Sept. 30, 1976, low bid of $15,564,306 from S. M. Wilson & Co. and G. H. Sternberg & Co.

Lengthy court delays have jeopardized major federal funding that was secured through the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, and also has resulted in the construction bids expiring.

Key points to be determined are whether grant funds can be reinstated, and whether bond funds of about $5 million will be adequate to finance the project when combined with the grant.

An initial reaction yesterday was that it might be possible to proceed quickly through some type of utilization of the initial round of bidding.

Later in the day, there appeared to be a feeling that a new round of construction bids may be necessary. The impact of intervening inflation on building costs is unknown, as is whether any supplemental funds might be available.

A bond bid call can be prepared in time for the February meeting of the County Board, the Press-Record learned.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and chairman of the county's special sewer committee, said Wednesday he is "thrilled about the announcement."

He added, "It looks like our program is on its way now, since the Supreme Court has turned them down."

Sparks said he planned to call for a joint meeting today of the committee members, the contractors, Edward Jeneau, the project engineer; and Attorney Harry E. Hartman, to "review our position in this thing and determine what actions should be taken immediately."

He said contractors will be asked to give their ideas on what procedures should be followed in getting the sewer installation program into an active status.

It was indicated that bidders are in the process of reviewing their positions in order to determine whether original prices can be maintained.

It was brought out in talks before local groups yesterday that the new Foreign Trade Zone 31 can spark related economic growth in the area north of the Tri-City Regional

Contract ratified

New working agreements which embody wage increases higher than those originally proposed by the city have been ratified by members of the police and fire department unions, it was reported Tuesday by City Clerk Robert Stevens as his office began preparations for paying retroactive salaries to members of both departments.

Stevens said he was notified by letter that firemen affiliated with Firefighters Local 253 have ratified an agreement proposal that was approved by the City Council in its Jan. 24 meeting, and that he had been advised verbally that police department members of Police Union Local 1347 also have accepted the proposal.

Acceptance of the three-year agreement ends nine months negotiations between the unions and the city, marked by disagreement over a demand which would have provided hospitalization and medical insurance for police and firemen, and their families, after retirement and until the retiree reached age 65.

Ratification of the agreements covering the police and fire departments completed contract negotiations by the city for all departments except the street department.

That agreement has been stalemated over a request by the employees, who are members of the teamsters and laborers' union locals, that they

READY FOR LIFT-OFF. Darrell Downing, 1530 Cottage Ave., releases a home-made hot-air balloon from his front yard Tuesday afternoon. It is identical to the unidentified flying object seen Jan. 21 over Lindell Boulevard, about a block from the launching site. Downing had sent one of the balloons up at about the same time as the sighting. When it is seen at night, the altitude and speed are deceptive. Downing is an industrial arts teacher in Collinsville. Mystery solved

That strange object with a brilliant orange glow sighted over the Nameoki area Jan. 21 wasn't an unidentified flying object, after all.

Actually, it was a thin, plastic dry-cleaning bag in which hot air was provided by 20 birthday candles, creating a hot air balloon.

Darrell Downing, 1530 Cottage Ave., an industrial arts teacher at the Collinsville Junior High School, after reading a newspaper account in which Fred R. Williams told of seeing an unidentified object move over his home on Lindell Boulevard, reported that he had made the balloon and launched it as a project to entertain his students.

Williams, president of the First Granite City Savings & Loan who lives at 1528 Lindell Blvd., related that about 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21, he had seen the moving object in the sky above his home as he stood outdoors talking to his son, Richard.

Williams said the object moved without a sound to a point over Clark Avenue, then ascended rapidly to a high altitude and disappeared. He said he didn't know what the object was, but that it cooled his skepticism about reports of unidentified flying objects. At least it looked like one, he said.

Downing told the Press-Record that the time of the sighting by Williams "was just about the time I launched the balloon."

The balloon, he said, "is an experiment that I had explained to my students, although I never told them how to make one, because it could be dangerous. If the conditions are not just right, the balloon could land in a field or on a house and cause a fire."

He explained that he had

Plan trade-zone building

A major building is under consideration for the newly-designated Foreign Trade Zone 31. The zone consists of a 47-acre site at the Tri-City Regional Port District, near the southern end of the eight-mile Chain of Rocks Canal.

There is a possibility that a proposed 100,000-square-foot structure can be built in 1978, Harry K. Barr, manager of the trade zone, said Wednesday.

Barr spoke at the February prayer breakfast of the Granite City Rotary Club's Community Service Committee yesterday, and again last night at the February dinner meeting of Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Chasing him in the talks was Carl Rantl, general manager of the Tri-City Regional Port District. Both gatherings took place at Charlie's Restaurant.

Barr outlined the role of foreign trade zones in encouraging manufacturing and

On and off the record New sighting yesterday

"I know it was something I've never seen before," Mrs. Madeline Scott of Holiday Park on State Aid Route 35 said in describing her encounter Wednesday morning with what she believes was an unidentified flying object (UFO).

Mrs. Scott, who works at St. Elizabeth Hospital, said she was on her way to work about 6:10 a.m. when she sighted the strange object off of SA 35 just a short distance south of Route

"I couldn't make out the shape. All I could see were three long rectangular windows, brilliantly lit," she related.

"It was impossible to tell how high it was, but it moved slowly when I first saw it. Then there was a kind of coughing sound and it just disappeared," she said.

"I was really frightened," she said. "I know it was something I've never seen before."

Unusual pipe sale

Pipe was purchased for Chouteau Township by James Estes, while he was highway commissioner, for less than half of its apparent wholesale cost, a study of township records showed this week.

Endorsed by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee's executive board for nomination as sheriff in the March 21 primary election, Estes served as township road commissioner for 10 years, from 1967 until being defeated last year in a bid for re-election.

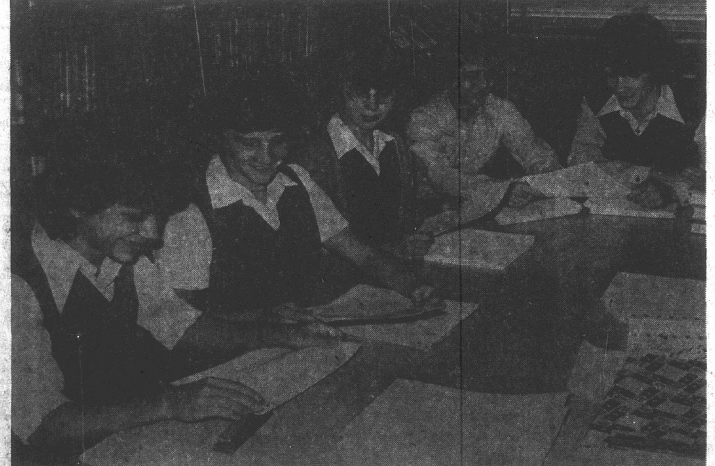

It was asserted that the 300 feet of 24-inch concrete pipe was obtained for use in two locations of the township, one said to have been behind a home on Springfield Avenue in Mitchell.

and the other on Lakeview Drive, where it was described as helping drain farm property. Records indicate that the supplier, the late Harold Stoltz, a Mitchell contractor and hauler, acquired the pipe for $2,410 on May 22, 1975, from Price Brothers Independent Concrete Pipe Co.

Mr. Stoltz arranged for its sale to the Chouteau highway department through Estes for $900 a few days later, records show.

A letter to Estes from an attorney for the pipe company alleges that Mr. Stoltz' $2,410 check to the pipe company was written on a closed bank account. Mr. Stoltz died before $900 a few days later, records show.

Burglar alarm use begins

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City's new burglar alarm system officially went into operation yesterday and several businesses and homes already have been linked into the central control panel in the Granite City Police Department's radio room.

The official start of the program "starts the clock" on deadlines stipulated in the city's ordinance which established the new burglar alarm system.

Persons who now have home burglar alarm systems, including units which dial the police on the telephone, have 120 days in which to convert their home alarms into a system compatible with the citywide system, or to redirect their alarms so they alert someone other than the police.

The clock also started ticking Feb. 1 on the 90-day time limit for persons wishing to link alarm systems directly to the police department to pay a fee without having to pay a $60 installation charge.

The new guidelines mean that anyone wanting to convert their home systems into the city system must do so by June 1, and anyone wanting to hook into the city's system without paying an installation fee must apply with the city clerk before May 2.

coordinator for the city's new system, explained that the new system requires special signals to activate the digital readout and printout systems in the police department.

Therefore, he said, persons who currently have a burglar alarm system must have their systems converted into the new police network before the "old" burglar alarm board in the police station is removed.

Two systems are available to residents and businessmen — one utilizing a separate direct telephone line into the police station and the other utilizing a machine which dials police on an existing telephone line and then sends a coded series of sounds over the telephone line to activate the digital alarm equipment in the police station.

Granite City's system, which will accept both types of signals, is only the second in the nation, May believes.

Granite City residents who now have systems which use the existing telephone line and dial the police with a tape recorded message must either convert the machines so they will activate the city's alarm or direct it so the tape recorded message is received at a friend or relative's home by an alarm company, which will then notify the police.

Persons who continue to use dialing machines to call the regular police number will be subject to fines after the 90-day period, Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer explained.

The city's ordinance controlling burglar alarms also specifies deadlines for alarm improvements, but Veizer said the police will probably be "flexible" on those deadlines "until problems develop."

One requirement is that all alarms utilizing a bell or siren on the building must have an automatic cutoff device limiting the amount of time the bell or siren will operate to 15 minutes on homes and 30 minutes on business establishments.

Another requirement is that all alarm systems must have rechargeable batteries which will prevent false alarms when there is a power failure.

"What is important immediately is that everyone who has a home or business alarm gets a $1 permit from the city clerk's office and have their systems converted so they will activate the city's new digital readout system within 120 days," Veizer said.

May said conversion of home dialing systems is easy and relatively inexpensive. The voice tape recording must be replaced with one carrying the electronic sound system and the dialer must be converted to dial a separate telephone number into the city's alarm system, rather than dialing the police dispatcher, as present systems do.

Systems already utilizing a direct telephone line into the police station must convert the signal their alarm will send over that phone line, also a relatively inexpensive and easy operation, May said.

Any alarm company may make the conversions on home or business burglar alarms. Letters were sent to all known alarm companies in the area yesterday, explaining how to modify both the dialers and the direct-line systems to fit the new city system.

Necessary equipment to link the converted systems into the coded city system, giving each signal a separate digital number, will be supplied by Controlled Security Systems.

Anyone having questions about converting their alarms or purchasing home systems can call May at 425-1770.

The direct-line alarm systems, considered the most reliable, also are the most expensive to connect. Persons wishing to link home systems into the city's system by a direct line will have to pay the telephone company $72 for installing the line and will have to pay $10.20 per month for use of the phone line.

They also will have to pay $5 per month service charge to Controlled Security Systems.

Persons converting dialing alarms into the city's system will pay only $5 per month to Controlled Security Systems as a service fee.

That company provided the basic alarm terminal and readout system to the city at no charge in return for the right to hook new alarms into the system and to charge the $5 per month service fee for each alarm.

After 200 alarms have been hooked into the system, the city will rebate $2 of each $5 service charge to the city.

The Varitouch computer terminal can scan up to 1,000 alarms each one-tenth of a second and indicates problems with a digital display and a printout on paper. It distinguishes between electrical failure, cleared alarms, storm-damaged alarms and actual burglary alarms.

It also has the capacity for adding a feature to distinguish between burglaries and robberies by adding a "holdup" alarm switch at business establishments.

be given longevity pay in a system similar to that which applies to the police department.

City Council members have been steadfast in their refusal to comply with this request. Negotiations are continuing and the council's negotiating committee, headed by Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward, is to meet again with street department representatives Friday at 4 p.m. in the city hall.

Salary raises granted to police and fire department employees, as well as those granted earlier to other city employees, are retroactive to May 1, beginning of the city's current fiscal year.

The agreement approved last week by the council and since ratified by the employees of the two departments, provide raises of 6 percent for the current year, 8 percent for the 1978-79 year beginning May 1, and 8.5 percent for the 1979-80 fiscal year which begins May 1, 1979.

This is an increase over the earlier wage increase schedule agreed upon by the council and ratified by the employees of the two departments, which accepted those terms two months ago. That schedule involved raises of 6 percent this year, 6 percent next year and 6 percent in the third year.

Council members agreed to the higher raises in the second and third years of the agreement after police and firemen said the only way by which they would give up the demand for paid medical insurance after retirement would be for the city to grant larger raises than originally agreed upon.

Retroactive payments to police and firemen are expected to range between $65,000 and $70,000, based on the 6 percent raise applied to the present payroll over a nine-month period.

Stevens noted that ordinances providing the new salary scale and other terms of the agreement will need to be approved by the council before payments are made. The next council meeting will be held Feb. 7.

Another freezing January

Snow and freezing rain predicted during the last several days bypassed the Quad-City area, but shivering residents still ended the month of January as one of the coldest in record-keeping history.

The month of January went down in weather records as the fifth coldest January since record keeping began, according to the National Weather Service.

The 19.5-degree average temperature during the month was a slight improvement over last year's January average of 15.1, the second coldest January on record.

Coldest January on record was in 1940 with an average temperature of 14.8 degrees. Last month's temperature ranged from a high of 46 on Jan. 4 to a low of 3 below zero on Jan. 26. Quad-City residents also put up with snow on the ground for the last 19 days of the month.

While snow fell in the Quad-City area on nine days in January, the heaviest falls occurred on Jan. 16 and 17 and on Jan. 24 and 25.

The month started with .03 of an inch precipitation recorded at the Chain of Rocks locks, which maintains weather records for the Corps of Army Engineers, on Jan. 1. That light snowfall was followed by a 1.3-inch snowfall on Jan. 7, and a total of about one more inch on Jan. 12, 13 and 14.

Five inches of snow fell on Jan. 16 and another six inches were recorded the following day for a total of 11 inches. On Jan. 24 another two inches of snow fell, followed on Jan. 25 by six inches.

For the month, snowfall in the Quad-City area totaled slightly over 21 inches.

Weather predictions say that February weather is likely to be more near normal than in January. The average high temperature for February is 44, and the average low is 26. Average snowfall for the month is about two inches.

Temperatures during January were considerably below normal, the weather service said. Average low temperature for January is 23 and the average high is 40.

of up to $1,550 a year to help them meet their college costs. Those grants, based primarily on need, are available from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission (ISSC).

The state agency is charged with the administration of the multi-million dollar monetary award program, as well as a major program of guaranteed student loans, and a variety of smaller, special-category scholarships.

During the current 1977-78 school year, the commission expects to disburse over $78 million in monetary awards to 94,000 Illinois residents.

These grants are available on a first-come, first-served basis, and are only applicable toward tuition and fees.

Students must reapply annually for eligibility for up to five years of undergraduate study, or until the student receives his bachelor's degree.

Applicants for the 1978-79 year are to file the beige monetary award application as soon as possible, but no later than Oct. 1, 1978, if they wish to be eligible for the full year's benefits for the next school year, 1978-80.

Applications for the monetary award program may be obtained from colleges or universities, or by writing to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission at 525 W. Jefferson, Springfield 62702.

In addition to its massive grant program, the ISSC also administers the Illinois guaranteed loan program, through which undergraduate students studying anywhere in the United States may borrow up to $2,500 a year to help them meet their educational expenses, and graduate students may borrow up to $5,000 a year.

Under this program, loans are available at a simple interest rate of seven percent and are repayable over a period of up to ten years, beginning nine months after the borrower completes his college or vocational school education.

A variety of other financial aid is available through federal funding, including the basic educational opportunity grant, which will have a maximum of $1,600 for the 1978-79 school year.

Applications for the basic grant and other federal programs are available from colleges, high schools or an ISSC office.

Reservations forms for a reunion of the 1958 graduating class of Granite City High School have been mailed to all classmates with known addresses, according to Mrs. Linetta Jarrard, secretary of the planning committee.

There are still about 70 members of the class who have not been located and anyone who does not receive a reservation card is requested to contact Mrs. Jarrard at 831-3983, it was announced.

The social event will be held at the Sunset Hills Country Club on June 10, Mrs. Jarrard added.

Robber gets $80 cash at station

An armed robber took about $80 from an attendant at the Clark service station, Nameoki Road and Washington Avenue, at 5:10 a.m. today and fled on foot.

The attendant, Dennis Holland, said a man, 19 to 21 years old, entered the station wearing a blue stocking cap which covered his face and asked for a package of cigarettes.

Holland said he turned around and got the cigarettes and when he turned back, the man was holding a blue-teal automatic handgun with a four-inch barrel.

The robber put the gun to Holland's throat and demanded his money. Holland gave him about $45 to $50 in bills from his shirt pocket and the robber asked, "Is this all of it?"

The gunman then noticed some rolled and loose change on the desk in the station and ordered Holland to pick it up and place it inside the left coat pocket of the Army-type coat the robber wore.

Holland then was ordered to turn and face the wall, he related. When he hesitated, the robber said, "I don't want to have to use this," and Holland complied, he related.

The robber then left the station, jumped over the fence between Iowa Street and Washington Avenue and ran south in the alley.

A witness saw a youth matching the robber's description run through the old cemetery behind Kirkpatrick Homes and into the housing project.

He was described as about 6 feet tall, weighing 160 pounds, having straight blonde hair to his neck and a mustache.

Koenig renamed as committee chairman

Victor H. Koenig, Granite City civil defense director, has been reappointed national membership chairman of the United States Civil Defense Council (USCDC).

William E. Smith of Atlanta, Ga., USCDC president, announced the appointment.

The same chairmanship was held by the Granite City man under several council presidents, including the immediate past president, Mrs. Lea Kungie of Joplin, Mo.

Koenig has served as director of civil defense in Granite City for more than 20 years and was chief of the CD auxiliary police force prior to that time.

He also has served as an officer of the Illinois Civil Defense Council and Region IV of the USCDC, and held membership on several national committees.

Such zones do not attract added imports but help assure local jobs and economic activity in conjunction with the materials brought to the U. S. for display, assembly, sorting, drying, refinement, grading, cleaning or packaging, the groups were told.

The fact that the federal government authorized a zone here reflects widespread confidence that it can contribute substantially to the prosperity of the St. Louis metropolitan area, Bart said.

There are 34 zones altogether, and the number intentionally is somewhat limited, he added. The first U.S. zones were in 1964 in New York and New Orleans, he said.

Jail term for priest?

Will the Rev. Edwin Arentsen, now of Madison, be ordered to jail at his trial? a.m. Feb. 14? He was charged with disorderly conduct Jan. 19 when he and others visited the area of the Hope Clinic for Women in Granite City.

The priest is an intense opponent of abortion and believes that the jailing of a religious person might lead to sufficient national discussion that the U.S. Supreme Court would review its ruling that permits abortions under certain circumstances.

If he is fined, he does not expect to pay the fine. If he is jailed, he will be content because he feels his time behind jail cell bars may advance the anti-abortion cause, which he views as a justified crusade against the deaths of young human beings unable to speak for themselves.

"Personal choice" in such matters always disregards the interest of the child, he is convinced.

What if he is freed without paying a fine or receiving a jail term? The priest expects to go back to the clinic.

The staff at the Hope Clinic for Women said this week that "we would like to make our feelings known, regarding the priest that took place here on Jan. 19, 1978, led by a Catholic priest."

"We think everyone has the right to protest against things that they do not believe in, and the priest and picketers had every right to be here."

"However, what amazes us is that these people profess to care about humanity. If they care so much about humanity, why don't they spend their time working with unwanted, abused, neglected or orphaned children, who have already been born — instead of walking around in 20-degree weather, dragging their freezing chins behind them."

"And what about their so-called respect for life? We saw no display of respect when the priest was pushing and shoving clinic employees, patients and policemen. Is that what you call respect?"

"We do respect people who are willing to stand up and voice their opinions."

"But we cannot respect anyone who is so inconsistent to say in one breath that they care about human rights, and then do nothing but march around harassing those who are exercising their human rights and their reproductive freedom which is guaranteed to us by our own Constitution."

Fr. Arentsen said, "On Dec. 28, 1977, I came to fair Granite City. That date is the Feast-day of the Holy Innocents — the little boys killed by King Herod after the birth of Christ."

"I came to this city, for I had heard that little babies, unborn, were being killed here."

"I walked into the place and went up to the counter. A girl at the desk asked, 'Can we do something for you?'"

"I said, 'Yes, you would, please. I would appreciate it very much.... This business you are in.... If you would shut it down.' She looked up at the ceiling."

"The girl called the executive director of the clinic. Same question. Same answer. 'She explained that they are engaged in the practice of medicine, and that God and religion are not involved. That, of course, is a lie.'"

"There is a building in Granite City that the people can be proud of: St. Elizabeth Hospital."

"In this place, little babies are brought into the world, and mothers lovingly carry them in their arms to their homes."

"On the other side of the street, there is this place called a clinic. But it is not. Clinic means a place of healing. There is a small healing to be found here. Not even half of the patients of a certain variety who come here, get out of there alive."

"Area citizens, do you understand? Innocent little babies.... made by God Himself.... are involved."

"Probably over 20,000 by now. Half the population of Granite City. The products of 'free love.' At the price of $18."

"Do people care?"

The sewer program had been upheld in all respects by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals and the Fifth District Appellate Court. It continued to be the Illinois Supreme Court decision to accept the appeal for further study. The late-January decision was a victory.

In addition to the impact on industrial and employment expansion, backers of sewers say they are essential to meet standards, can increase the resale value of residential and office property, and can attract new shopping centers and other commercial enterprises along Interstate 270 in Madison County.

County officials said improper procedures were followed, and placed strong emphasis on the initial efforts to help finance sanitary sewers with revenue bonds rather than general obligation bonds.

The revenue bond market is such that the project cannot be consummated without inclusion of GO bonds, the county government's sewer committee concluded.

Petitions opposing the project were insufficient to block it, and the court decisions upheld the fairness and legality of the special service area law enacted by the Illinois General Assembly.

Sewer backers conceded that installation of sewers is costly, but said the project was ordered by a court with or without citizens' approval. It is better to proceed when only a minority of citizens object, they said.

Whether additional funding tactics will develop has not been determined. Opponents have indicated they might seek

Some extended railroad job benefits are ending

Because of the recent improvement in national employment, extended unemployment benefits to railroad employees with less than 10 years of railroad service cannot begin after Jan. 27, 1978, at least until insured unemployment either nationally or in the railroad industry again rises to 4.5 percent.

For this purpose, a period of high unemployment ended Jan. 27, because the national insured unemployment rate dropped below 4.5 percent, the minimum figure for a period of "high unemployment."

The unemployment rate in the railroad industry had already fallen below the minimum trigger rate months earlier.

News notes

A combination of the Tofant-Henkhaus-Ettimoff-Matoesian-O'Neill-Heyes candidacies for the March 31 Democratic primary election is not a slate, a campaign official said this week. The Coalition for the Election of Independent Democrats was formed to simplify forwarding of campaign financial information to the state, it was explained.

The United Farm Workers union this week ended its national boycott against harvested table grapes, lettuce and wines.

A federal judge Tuesday temporarily blocked enforcement of a new Illinois law requiring minors to obtain parental or court consent before having an abortion.

WRONG CHARGE LISTED An article Monday incorrectly gave the charge against Loren T. Werthen in a Madison County Circuit Court case. A fine was assessed on a charge of battery, court officials said Tuesday in amending an earlier notation.

Million new jobs needed in state

There wasn't much to cheer about in the reports made to businessmen at a regional legislative dinner of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce yesterday. But, leaving about the legislature turning more favorable.

Lester W. Brann Jr., president of the State Chamber, W. Paul Neal Jr., legislative department manager, and Jim Beaumont, manager of the Illinois Political Action Committee, showed slides and answered questions at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville.

Brann said that between 1975 and 1990, the population of the state will rise 11 percent and the labor force 17 percent.

"To keep pace, 517,000 new jobs must be created by 1980 and 988,000 by 1990. This will require an improved business climate," he commented.

Neal said $493 million in new revenue is expected this year. The State Chamber proposes that $128 million be used to "turn the state around" from deficit spending, leaving about $365 million of "fresh money" for the governor and legislature to distribute.

"The road fund is broke," Neal said. "New road construction now can be done only with bond funds or federal money."

He cited welfare, elementary items calling for big increases. Public aid is expected to be $2,116,100,000, elementary-secondary $1,799,600,000 and higher education $773,200,000. Neal said a recent Illinois Supreme Court ruling seems to involve third parties in product liability cases.

Brann and Neal said the state chamber will try again to get modifications in the unemployment insurance law. The Illinois law's extension to governmental employees has recently brought the high cost of UI to the attention of government agencies and the public, it was noted.

Brann said nobody has figured out a workable substitute for the corporate personal property tax, although the 1970 Constitution calls for it to be replaced by 1979.

He said there is considerable pressure to eliminate this wording from the Constitution altogether by amendment. There will be much debate on it in the next year, he said.

Brann said the governor in the last session indicated he would veto any sales tax exemption on equipment sales. He said three versions of this are floating around the legislature, and could cost from $43 million to $150 million in revenue.

He is convinced that Governor James Thompson won't agree to any of them, but is disposed to sign some sort of phaser at lesser cost, if the legislature passes it.

Paid $183,000 by the state but netted only $33,000—Dr. Han

Who is Thwan Han, and why is State Comptroller Michael Bakalis saying all those terrible things about him?

The St. Louis psychiatrist operates a busy counseling center at 2350 Benton St., Granite City.

Bakalis is running for governor against Gov. James Thompson, a Republican, whom the Democratic comptroller accuses of mismanaging state public aid payments for medical services.

Called "Dr. X" by Bakalis, Dr. Han was paid $183,000 by the state during 1977 for his work with public aid patients. But his payroll and overhead costs totaled $150,000, leaving a net of $33,000, he told the Press-Record yesterday.

The state comptroller, seeking to make headway against the incumbent governor's first-term record and second-term election prospects, first talked of "Dr. X" at a news conference Jan. 23.

The identity of the "mystery" medical doctor was disclosed yesterday in Chicago.

Bakalis said he was cutting off payments to Dr. X because the psychiatrist had billed the state Medicaid program for more than 24 hours of work a day on 31 occasions in 1976 and 1977.

He sent a list of eight names, including that of Dr. Han, to Gov. Thompson, who he accused of inept administration of Medicaid in Illinois.

Dr. Han defends all of his actions as ethical and legal, and notes that in every case of long-workday billing, more than one counselor participated.

Whether more than one psychiatrist or aide can qualify for state reimbursement is the crux of the dispute. The Granite City psychiatrist, whose patients are mainly from Madison and St. Clair counties, says at all times the counseling was by himself or someone directly under his supervision, with whom he reviewed the progress.

Billing procedures and utilization of paramedical personnel are being assailed by Bakalis. Dr. Han says he followed all the rules set by the state.

Bakalis alleges that billings averaged 111 hours a week in 1976 for care of public aid patients by Dr. Han, who also has private patients. There are 168 hours in a week.

During his talk yesterday with the Press-Record, Dr. Han said he typically works on a Monday-Friday basis throughout the morning, afternoon and evening hours to midnight or later.

On Saturday, he works in the morning and afternoon and usually until 7 or 8 in the evening, he said.

And on Sundays, he makes the rounds of hospitals where his patients are staying.

"His busiest day was Oct. 28, 1976, when he billed us for 34.75 hours of work," Comptroller Bakalis said.

On that particular day, Dr. Han says, a psychiatric social worker saw 14 patients and the doctor saw 32. Of these figures, 14 and 19 were billed to the state, a total of 33, and 13 patients seen by Dr. Han were part of his private psychiatric practice.

"We worked from 9 a.m. to 12:30 a.m. that day," Dr. Han noted.

Forms used for billing until 1974 allowed use of non-M.D. helpers in determining the amount of counseling rendered. Dr. Han contended, nor was he informed of any change since then.

Dr. Han's staff at various times has included another psychiatrist, a psychologist, psychiatric social workers and mental health workers, he told the Press-Record.

Billing basically is at $1 a minute, with a $22 minimum, and he usually has only charged the state for the minimum amount even though counseling sessions last longer, he said.

He described a typical interview with a patient as lasting 30 minutes, with additional time devoted before and after the session to reviewing past notes and records and discussing the case with other staff members.

If there is a lengthy backlog of a number of patients being counseled simultaneously, Dr. Han commented.

He has been in practice here for the past five years.

Bakalis asserted that some Illinois psychiatrists bill the state whether or not a particular patient is seen on a specific day.

The state comptroller accused "Dr. X" of billing the state three times for the same service, and Dr. Han responded, "That cannot be true."

Dr. Han added that the state has tried to reclaim $60,000 in payments to him, but that he has refused because the pay was justified.

Gov. Thompson has replied to Bakalis that his staff already was checking on "four" psychiatrists, including "Dr. X," whom Thompson said has been the subject of a study since May 1977.

Injured in crash during high-speed police chase

Chester R. Walton, 23, of the 700 block of 26th Place, was admitted to St. John's Mercy Medical Center with serious facial injuries Monday after his car was wrecked, allegedly during a police chase in Creve Coeur, Mo.

Walton has been charged with burglary and stealing in connection with the burglary of a Creve Coeur dress shop moments before the high-speed chase.

Creve Coeur police responded to a burglar alarm at the Hidden Honey dress store on New Ballas Road and alleged seeing a man carrying something who ran from the store to a car.

An attempt to block his car failed and he was chased south on New Ballas Road at speeds up to 90 miles-per-hour, police said. While turning at high speed from New Ballas Road to Highway 40, Walton allegedly lost control and struck an electric signal in the median, demolishing his auto.

Police arrested him as he allegedly tried to crawl away from his car. A quantity of clothing and wigs from the dress store were found in Walton's auto, police said.

St. Louis County Magistrate Melvyn W. Wiseman set bond at $7,500 and he was ordered held at the hospital for police.

Speaks on labor issues

Dan Stack, of Granite City, candidate for Republican nomination as U.S. House of Representatives in the March primary, spoke yesterday before Local 4084 of the United Steelworkers of America of Consolidated Aluminum Corp., Venice.

Stack presented his stand on various worker issues. Giving his own background as a union member, Stack stated his position on issues of union concern.

Stack said he favors the right of unions to organize and oppose the right-to-work law.

Stack also said American business has a right to look to its own interest, and he supports this national union in their stand against strike unemployment compensation — holding to a position that he opposes any effort which would cause an imbalance at the negotiating table.

For the same reason, Stack said, he opposes any legislation which allows strike-breakers.

since both labor and business must have an incentive to come to an agreement on a long-term contract.

He complimented the United Steelworkers of America for its leadership in bringing about the experimental negotiating agreement, which has already proven itself by saving workers and their families from having to suffer through otherwise possible strikes and has saved company funds.

Stack said that he has no intention of making promises he cannot fulfill.

Stack stated further, "While I am not going to make a lot of promises, I cannot keep. I do promise that I will be back in the district for personal contact at every available opportunity and will, if elected, establish satellite offices throughout the district where I, or one of my staff members, can be contacted at any time."

Computer billing for sewage treatment fees

About 9,000 residents using the Lansdowne sewage treatment plant, including those in Madison and Venice, will begin receiving computerized bills later this month in an effort by the Metro-East Sanitary district to collect about $115,000 in delinquent fees.

The Lansdowne treatment plant which serves Madison, Venice, Brooklyn, Washington Park, Caseyville and part of East St. Louis is operated by the sanitary district.

Computer-printed bills are to be mailed beginning next week, according to Larry Bihrey, who supervises the district's sewage treatment accounts.

He said about 10 per cent of the bills will show a delinquency for at least one billing period. Some accounts have been delinquent since 1966 when the plant began operation, he said. "User of computer billing will provide information on each account to facilitate the filing of small claims cases to collect delinquencies, Bihrey said, noting that the information always has been available, but would be too time-consuming to compute.

The computer work is being done by Computerized Business Services of St. Louis at an initial cost of $10,000 for the first year. The cost will drop to about $7,500 the second year and remain at that level for succeeding years.

Bihrey said he does not expect to cut labor costs through the new system, since employees previously used for billing now will be assigned to helping collect delinquent fees.

He said district officials also are considering using computer billing for the Cahokia Treatment plant which serves the Cahokia and Sauget area. That plant serves about 6,000 residents.

Mail carrier admits theft

Dudley L. Collins, 44, of 1217 Logan Ave., Venice, a St. Louis letter carrier, pleaded guilty Monday to taking $8 from a letter addressed to the Shrine of Our Lady of Snows in Belleville.

Two other charges of alleged theft from the mail were dropped, according to postal authorities after the guilty plea.

Collins faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Sentencing is scheduled Feb. 10.

A postal inspector from St. Louis commented that any theft regardless of amount is considered a serious matter by postal authorities.

State to resurface Rt. 3

The Venice City Council was informed at its Tuesday night meeting by letter from the Illinois Department of Transportation that three and one-tenth miles of Illinois Highway 3 south of Venice will be resurfaced.

The section involved is that extending from the Corral highway near I-55 and I-70 in East St. Louis to Fourth and Broadway in Venice. No date was given but the letter indicated the work will start prior to 1980 and that the State of Illinois will assume full cost of the project. The council accepted the resignation of Arthur Kettenhofen, resident engineer for the Broadway relocation and underpass project.

"Art has done a real fine job and saved the taxpayers a lot of money. With the exception of the final inspection the need for a resident engineer to replace Art is questionable. I cannot brag enough on the job he did for Venice. I hope he enjoys a much earned rest," Mayor William Ebersold said.

On the recommendation of Venice Fire Chief William Meehan, the following positions were approved: Willie Dumas and Thomas McCuskey, both assistant fire chiefs; Thomas Scaturro, captain; Gerald Sugg, fire marshal; and Harold Koelker Jr. as chaplain.

The fire department was complimented for its quick action in containing a fire to a shed at Consolidated Aluminum at 1 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 23. An inspection of Federal Aid Route 151 by state officials in the Department of Transportation is scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday, according to Thomas Scaturro, superintendent of streets.

Mayor Ebersold reminded the council that the city will host Boy Scouts in a government day project on Tuesday, Feb. 14, and asked members of the council to schedule some time that morning to be with the scouts.

Regional pairings for area schools released

Press-Record Sports

BLOOMINGTON — The curtain is scheduled to rise for the 71st time Feb. 20 when Class A regional competition begins in the annual Illinois High School Association (IHSA) boys state basketball tournament series.

The following week the Class AA regionals will be conducted.

The most severe cases of "March madness" may be cured when the eight survivors in each class square off in the Assembly Hall in Champaign for the seventh annual Class A (750 enrollment or less) state final tournament the weekend of March 10-11 and the seventh annual Class AA (751 enrollment or more) state final tournament the weekend of March 17-18.

Pairings for Class A regionals, which will be conducted the week of Feb. 20-24, and Class AA regionals, Feb. 27-March 3, were announced today by IHSA Executive Secretary Harry Fitzhugh.

This year, a total of 723 schools (excluding those in the Chicago Public League) will compete in the two series.

In Class A, 470 schools will embark on what could be a journey to the Assembly Hall in Champaign at 64 regional sites throughout the state. In Class AA, 263 schools launch their hopes of landing a berth in the University of Illinois Assembly Hall at 56 sites throughout Illinois.

Dates for the Class A tournament series are: regional 1 at 64 sites Feb. 20-24; sectional 1 at 16 sites Feb. 28-March 1 and 3; super-sectionals at eight sites Tuesday, March 7 (all beginning at 7:30 p.m.); and the state final tournament at the Assembly Hall, Champaign, March 10-11.

The Chicago Public League champion will be crowned March 14 at 1 p.m. and will advance to Champaign in Class AA.

Each state final tournament will be conducted identically in four sessions, over a Friday-Saturday format: Session No. 1 on Friday at 12:15 p.m. (two quarterfinal games); Session No. 2 on Friday at 7 p.m. (two quarterfinal games); Session No. 3 on Saturday at 12:15 p.m. (two semifinal games); Session No. 4 on Saturday at 7 p.m. (third place game to be followed no earlier than 8:30 p.m. by championship game).

Since the advent of the two-class series, only Lawrenceville in Class A has won the crown in its respective class more than once. There have been six different champions in Class AA competition and five in Class A.

MADISON will be out to duplicate the Lawrenceville Indians' accomplishment when the Trojans go after their second straight title.

They were a "Cinderella story" last season when they won the state championship. This year, everyone will be gunning for them.

The Trojans have a bye in the first round of the Dupo regional, in which the Quad-Cities' other Class A school, Venice, also is entered. Venice also attained a Class A state title, in 1975.

Freeburg will play Bellevue St. Henry in the first game at Dupo on Monday, Feb. 20. The Red Devils of Venice will play Lovejoy (Brooklyn) in the second game on Tuesday, followed by Dupo vs. Columbia, also on Tuesday.

The Trojans will face the winner of the Freeburg-St. Henry game on Wednesday night.

On Thursday, the winner of that game will play the winner of game three in the other semifinal contest. The championship contest will be played Friday, Feb. 24.

THE WARRIORS of Granite City South are entered in the Collinsville Class AA regional, which begins Tuesday, Feb. 27. However, the Warriors will not play until Wednesday, Jan. 28. South will face East St. Louis Senior in the second game of the four-team regional after Collinsville and Cahokia battle it out on the torney's first day. The two winners will face each other Friday, March 2.

GRANITE-CITY NORTH will also be idle the first day of the regional at Wood River. The Steelers will face Edwardsville on Jan. 28 after Wood River plays Roxana in the first game.

The winners of those games will meet for the championship of the four-team tourney March 2.

Trojans' quickness leads off Greyhounds' 'revenge'

By PETE HAYES

Press-Record Sports Editor

LEBANON—Take 4,000 screaming fans, add a defending state championship team and a hometown squad that barely lost to those state champs on their way to the title and what have you got?

A barnburner. A pure, grade A certified barnburner. All those ingredients were there Tuesday night when Madison, the defending Illinois Class A (750 enrollment or less) basketball champions invaded Lebanon for a rematch with the Greyhounds. It was a classic.

The Trojans of Madison were able to overcome their own third-quarter lapse and stave off Lebanon rally to win 80-81 and run the record to 17-1.

Lebanon was out to avenge its 83-81 loss to the Trojans in the championship of last season's Vandavia Class A sectional.

The Greyhounds had a shot gun in the buzzer in that game which was disallowed, thus sending Madison into the "sweet sixteen" and a super-sectional berth against Robinson.

BUT VENGEANCE was not to be theirs.

At times in the first half, it appeared as if the Trojans might blow the game open early. They had several 10-0 leads and had things going their way.

Lebanon, to the delight of the overflow crowd, came back on several occasions and trailed at halftime by only 46-40.

The third quarter almost proved the Madison's undoing. The Trojans managed to stave off Lebanon until the 4:46 mark of the period. That's when Ray Mack, who led all scorers with 25 points, tied the score at 50-50 on a five-foot jumper from the left side.

It took the Greyhounds exactly two more minutes before they could claim the lead for the first time in the game. That happened when Mack scored on a 10 footer to make it 55-54, Lebanon, with 2:46 left in the period.

Just a minute and a half later, the Greyhounds' lead was five points, 63-58, when Brooks scored on a tip-in. There were 37 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

That's when, like a bolt of lightning, Madison's quickness struck. Two free throws by Lloyd Williams made it 63-60. A steal by James Heard of the Greyhounds ensuing in-bounds pass and layup made it 63-62.

TIM COLSTON stole a pass on the Greyhounds' next possession and fed the ball off to Ronald Morris, who scored. There were still 25 seconds left in the period.

Thirty-two seconds, six points, Madison had re-taken the lead.

That 30-second spurt by Madison seemed to take just about all the wind out of Lebanon's sails.

Try as they did in the final stanza, the Greyhounds simply couldn't overcome the Trojans' quickness.

"The third-quarter lapse almost did us in," said Madison coach Larry Graham. "They (Lebanon) had us playing their game, which is a more controlled, precise offense."

"Our game is to run. Once we got back on the track, we had things going our way again," GRAHAM SAID. That one of the keys to the Trojans' success was their ability to control the Greyhounds' guards.

"We stopped their point-guard pretty effectively," he said. "Once we did that, we gained control of the game."

When Anthony King scored on a drive with five minutes left in the game to give Madison a 74-72 advantage, the Trojans had a lead they would never give up.

MADISON had its biggest lead of the night when Tim Colston scored from five feet out to make the score 85-73.

"I'm really proud of the way the guys came back after that third period," said Graham.

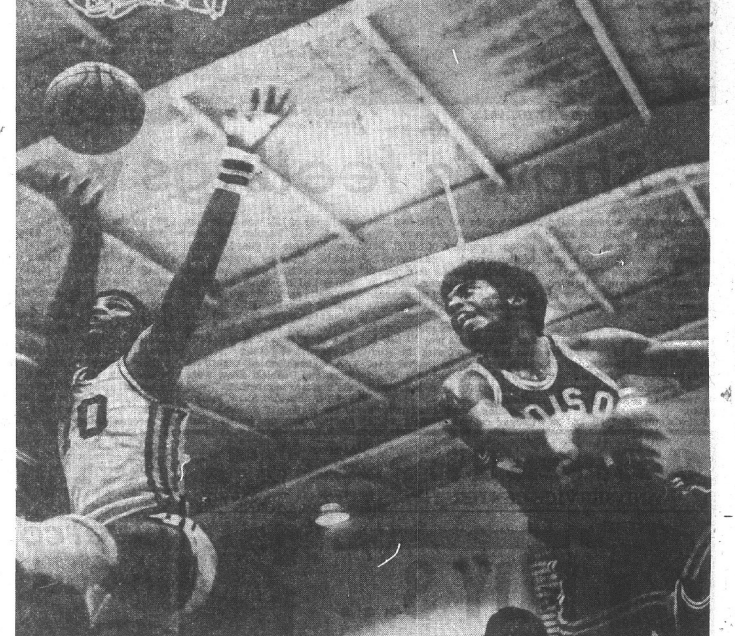

"The road doesn't get any easier as we go along. Those little lapses might just do us in later on."

"I thought Ronald Morris did a heck of a job coming in off the bench," said Graham. "He made some steals and kept up pressure where we needed it."

The Madison mentor went on and praised Lebanon, not exactly praise; make that thanked Lebanon. "They missed a lot of free throws. That really helped us. At times, it kept us in the game."

Devils fall short of upset

VENICE—Keh Perkins had no complaints after Tuesday night's 65-94 game with St. Paul of Highland... even though his team lost.

His Venice Red Devils dropped a thrilling, one-point decision to the Vikings, who were sparked by big (6-6) Dennis Luber's 32 points. The junior pivot man earned praise from Perkins.

"He's got to be one of the best shooters I've seen," he said. "He's just one heck of a shooter... a pure shooter."

Perkins' Red Devils enjoyed a little more balanced scoring on their side of the ledger. They were paced by Anthony Wise's 15 points. Reggie Mathis added 13.

"I'm really pleased with the total team effort," said Perkins. "I've got no complaints. I thought we did a heck of a job."

THE TEAM, they had, had second time St. Paul has beaten Venice this season. The Vikings handed the Devils a 10-point loss in the first game of the season.

"We were trying to stop Randy Moss (St. Paul's hot shooting guard) and Luber's 32 points," said Perkins.

"In fact, I thought we had Luber defended pretty well. We had a guy on every side of him, and he still tore us apart."

THE DEVILS, trailing by one late in the game, went to the stall and tried for the last shot. But a last-second drive by Terry Arnold rolled around the rim and out as the buzzer sounded.

"We really wanted Anthony Wise to take the shot," said Perkins. "But they had him boxed-in and we couldn't get the ball to him, so Terry drove the lane."

But I've got absolutely nothing to gripe about. It was just one of those games where you play as hard and as well as you can and the other guys do the same thing. It's just a shame we've had to lose so many of those types of games."

With the loss, the Red Devils' record falls to 2-11.

South 'warms-up' on Marquette

Granite City — Granite City South's Warrior wrestlers warmed up for tonight's meet at North by stomping Illinois Marquette Tuesday night at South, 65-0, in a varsity meet. Well, not exactly.

It was more like the Warrior junior varsity and sophomores warmed up for their respective meets with the Steelers. The meet was a varsity one, but South Coach Bill Schmitt "took it easy" on Marquette by only using underclassmen in the meet.

Randy Lupardus, a freshman, pinned Dan Powell in 1:16 to win his 112-pound bout. Tom McElroy, another Warrior freshman, pinned Paul Rathgeb at 1:59 in the 119 class.

At 155, sophomore Drue Clement defeated Dan Townsend 3-2. Rich James pinned Tom Widger at 2:45 in the 167-pound class.

The Warriors' two heavier weight bouts were won by pins. Bart Gardner, a freshman, pinned Ralph Woods at 3:33 to win at 185. Bruce Monahan, also a freshman, pinned Jim Velloff at 3:33 in the heavyweight division.

Steelerettes' future bright

By PETE HAYES

Press-Record Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — For first-year coach Les Obermoeller, the upcoming girls' basketball season looks pretty bright at Granite City North.

Miss Obermoeller is a teacher at Coolidge Junior High and directs the Steelerettes' basketball fortunes from there. She said, "hours before her team's first game of the season Tuesday night, that she thinks it would be one of the girls' squads in the area to watch closely."

"WE'RE EAGER to get at it," she said. "We started practicing in December and that's a long time to wait before the first game."

That first game was on the road at St. Louis Senior, one of the teams she feels will be the toughest tests for her Steelerettes. But she said the strongest school in the area will be Belleville-based.

"Althoff should probably be the toughest team on our schedule," said Coach Obermoeller. "They're going to be real tough, no doubt about it." That schedule for the North girls includes 12 games, with a junior varsity game preceding each varsity contest.

The first three games for the Steelerettes are on the road. They don't play their first home game until Feb. 14... Valentine's Day... against Althoff.

"We're going to be ready for them," said Miss Obermoeller. "It'll be our first home game, and the girls will be psyched up. I think we'll give them a real battle."

THE COACH feels the strength of her team will be its size. The biggest Steelerette is 5-11 senior center Tracy McIntyre.

"Tracy's an all-around player," said Miss Obermoeller. "She can shoot well, plays good defense and grabs a lot of rebounds."

Another Steeler, one whom she feels may be the best player on her team, is Sheryl Schofield, a 5-4 guard. "She's got real quickness," said Coach. "She's a good shooter. She's a good shooter... a fine all-around ball player."

Student vs. teacher...

That's what it'll be when North meets South tonight

NORTH'S WHITAKER

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — North versus South, South versus North. It seems people in Granite City have been uttering those words quite a bit during this school year.

What they were talking about, of course, is the on-going confrontations between the city's two high school sports teams—the Warriors from Granite City High School South and their Steeler counterparts from Granite City High School North.

Don't look now, but there's going to be another North-South confrontation tonight. But this time, there's an added twist to all the excitement.

The North-South meeting tonight will be between the two schools' wrestling teams and it will be held at GCHS North. It will begin at 6:30 with the underclassman bouts, leading up to the varsity bouts.

THE ADDED TWIST to the meeting is that it pits teacher against pupil... or more correctly, teacher against pupil.

The teacher is Bill Schmitt, the South's successful wrestling coach at South.

During his long tenure at the school (going back to when there wasn't a GCHS North), he has come up with one of the most impressive records in high school sports.

The pupils are Granite City North's coaching staff. Head coach Walt Whitaker and assistants George Nemeth and Bob Whelan.

Whitaker was the captain of Schmitt's 1951 wrestling team, and later served as an assistant at the school.

Nemeth was state champion twice under Schmitt in 1957 and 1958, first at the 98-pound level and again at the 105 weight class.

Whelan at one time served as an assistant coach under Schmitt.

Whitaker has built up an equally impressive record at North since coming over from the older school. "I GUESS they know all my secrets and I don't know any of theirs," said Schmitt, tongue-in-cheek.

But Whitaker said there are no secrets in wrestling. "Oh, I don't think we're going to be able to surprise them with anything we do," he said.

"At the same time, there really isn't anything that they haven't seen or that we haven't seen."

"I know the gym will be filled with us," said Whitaker.

"The guys on my team are getting up for the meet in their own way."

"They're confident, but the thing I have to guard against is them becoming too fired up. Many times, if that happens, a wrestler can be 'flat' when he steps out on the mat."

South's Schmitt voiced a similar opinion. "I really leave it up to the guys to get themselves up for the meet," he said. "Sometimes if they get up too soon, it backfires."

South will go into the meet with a 17-1 dual meet record. North stands at 14-4-1.

"We know they're a real good team this year," said Whitaker. "But we're confident we can win."

"There are several weight classes in which I think we have a definite advantage, some where they have an edge and a couple that are too close to call."

Schmitt feels his team will be equally up to the task. "This is one we really want to win," he said. "They beat us last year and we want to get even for that."

THE STEELER GRAPPLERS pinned a 25-21 defeat on the Warriors last year. The year before that, South took a 25-23 verdict.

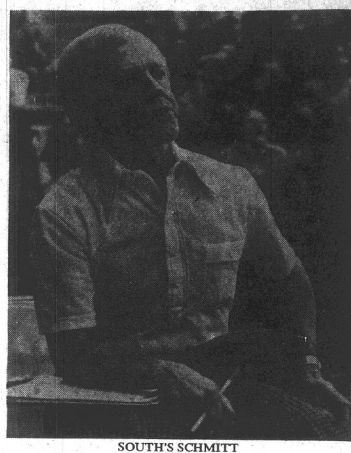

"Everybody's 0-0 at this one," said Schmitt. "You can literally take all the previous records and toss them out the window."

Obviously, there is one particular wrestler for North that South wants to defeat... defending state champion Kris Whelan. "I guess it'd be real nice to be able to beat Whelan," said Schmitt. "But realistically, I don't know what the chances of that are."

WHELAN, who wrestles at 119 pounds, is undefeated and considered to be one of the top young wrestling prospects for the 1980 Olympics in Moscow.

"Since we're not in a conference, I guess this is our only real rivalry," said Schmitt. "I know their place will be packed... I think it'll be a really exciting meet."

Maybe one of the two groups, the teacher or the pupils will learn something.

Shaw's feelings were mixed

Kenneth Shaw was on hand Saturday night at Horton Field House in Normal, as the nationally ranked (No. 20 in one poll) Illinois State University basketball team battled Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in a non-league contest.

The ISU Redbirds won it, 80-73, but Dr. Shaw had to have mixed emotions as he watched the older, well-established home team post its 18th straight victory on its own court and run its record to 18-2 for the campaign.

Shaw's mixed feelings, of course, grew out of the fact that he's now (just one year completed) president of SIUE, but he also played... and starred... at Illinois State for four years.

His college career ended in 1961 after a brilliant prep career at Edwardsville High under Joe Lucero.

It isn't an overstatement to say that Shaw's play at ISU is one big reason why the Redbirds are now on the verge of national recognition. He helped establish ISU as a basketball school.

Leading Coach Jim Dudley's Cougar cagers in their tough challenge of ISU was their tiny guard, Keil Peebles, and his running mate at guard, Benny Lewis. Peebles topped all scorers with 24 points, most of which had the capacity crowd "ahing" and "ohing" as he gunned from far out.

Just two points back (22) was Lewis. Tops for the Redbirds was their smooth-as-silk Billy Lewis with 19 points.

A coincidence in regard to Shaw and Peebles: Shaw wore the uniform number "32", and Peebles does also. Shaw, in fact, is the Redbirds' seventh high all-time scoring leader with 1,396 points.

After Saturday night's game, Peebles has scored a total of 1,167 and is just 229 points off "Burr" Shaw's career total.

After the game, the young SIUE president was on hand to congratulate the Cougars. It was clearly obvious that he was proud of their play against his alma mater.

Two things hurt the Cougars in their attempt to post one of the season's biggest collegiate basketball upsets: SIUE's early cold spell in shooting; the Cougars went five minutes and 20 seconds before Bill Branz scored SIUE's first basket; and four quick fouls on Branz.

Branz drew his first foul at 18:00 on the clock. By 5:26 remaining in the first half, he'd been whistled for his third one, and after a little over 13 minutes remaining in the game he was out of the contest. When he left, the Cougars were really hurt, but they failed to crumble.

Ron Jones, from Madison High, looked impressive for ISU as he hit for 14 points.

Elgin's Derrick Mayes was second highest for the Redbirds with 15 points, and the winners' (7-1) Joe Galvin hit for nine points.

SIUE's Lewis garnered rebounding honors with 12; Benny Lewis was top for the Cougars with seven caroms.

After a rather cold start (he missed his first three attempts), Peebles hit on 10 of 21 field goal attempts.

Peebles ran his free throw streak to 22 as he hit on four-for-four. He's now 37 of 39 for the year.

For the game, the Redbirds hit a sensational 33 field goals on 57 shots: an average of .579.

The Cougars, meanwhile, shot 40 from the floor.

Again, as in most games, the Cougars' offense got them more shots than their opponents: 65 to ISU's 57.

Bennie Lewis' play, too, continues to impress Cougar fans. He's a perfect foil for Peebles' style. Keil shoots from outside, while Bennie's main thing is driving in, but he also can hit a near jump shot, which is deadly.

Junior Jeff Verstraete turned in a brilliant relief job for Branz and connected on four of seven from the floor.

Pam Rowden qualifies for gymnastics meet

Pam Rowden, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Rowden of Granite City and an eight grade student at Grigsby Junior High, has qualified for the Illinois state championship competition of the United States Gymnastic Federation to be held this Sunday at Schaumburg, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

Qualifying competition for Section 6, which includes Quincy, Peoria, Mattoon and all areas south, was held last Saturday at Carbondale. All competitors had to previously score an average of 7.5 in compulsories and 6.5 in optionals in order to attend the sectional meet.

Pam placed third in vault, seventh in beam, fifth in bars, and first in the floor exercise — each placement based on combined compulsory and optional scores. She placed sixth all-around in District 6.

Earlier in January, she was named to the Greater St. Louis All-Star Team, which was made up of the top 20 gymnasts from all age groups in the greater St. Louis area. In competition of the top 20 held at Castle Oaks Gymnastic Club in St. Louis, the Pam placed second in the floor exercise, third in the balance beam, and fourth in the vault.

She competes for the Edwardsville YMCA gymnastic team, which is coached by Piper Dandridge of Madison.

She also participates in the Granite City Park District gymnastic program, which is under the direction of Dave Sparks.

Local high school coaches to vote on All-American team

More than 20,000 senior high school basketball coaches, including Quad-City mentors, around the country received nomination forms this week for the second annual McDonald's All American High School Basketball Team.

Each coach may nominate one senior basketball player based on ability, sportsmanship, attitude and leaders.

In February, the announcement of the 20 member All American Team will be made.

The team is selected by two blue ribbon panels. The selection committee is made up of the eight district basketball "coaches of the year" from the National High School Athletic Coaches Association. Morgan Wooten, coach of DeMatha High, Hyattsville, Md., is chairman again this year.

John Wooden, retired coach of UCLA, and considered the "dean of basketball coaching," is chairman of the advisory committee. Al McGuire, retired coach of 1977 NCAA champion Marquette University, has also been named to the advisory committee.

High school association to put 2 proposals to vote

The Illinois High School Association (IHSA) announced Monday that two proposals will be on a special referendum to be voted on by member schools.

One of the proposals will be to allow the starting date of football practice to be the third Monday preceding Labor Day and would allow for the first game to be played as early as the Friday before Labor Day.

The proposal is designed to result in the conclusion of the regular football season among Illinois high schools and the playoffs a week earlier than they now do.

The other proposal seeks to increase the size of the IHSA's board of directors from six to seven members and the size of the legislative commission from 17 members to 21.

Ballots for the two proposals will be sent out to member schools within 10 days. They have 30 days to vote on them. A simple majority is necessary for passage.

Overconfidence results in Cougarettes cage loss

A bit of overconfidence and a lack of practice last week (just one session due to the blizzard) contributed to a 57-45 loss handed the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville women's basketball team by MacMurray College at Jacksonville during the weekend.

Just recently, SIUE Coach Lori Stark's charges had lambasted the Highlanders, 69-42, but the winners' sensational shooting from the floor defeated the Cougar women.

MacMurray hit a scorching 64 percent of its shots from the floor.

The Cougars' junior forward,

Kim (Too Tall) Wheeler, paced the losers with 16 points and topped all rebounders by pulling out right at the buzzer.

Kathy Goins, SIUE's leading scorer with a 17 point-percentage, suffered her second straight sub-par performance in a row as she was held to nine points.

Carol Sweitzer and Tina Barmen were the Highlanders' one-two scoring punch as they combined for 35 points between them.

Tonight, rugged Greenville College will be at Edwardsville for a 7:30 game at the women's 120 in the Edwardsville High building.

SIUE was led by Bennie Lewis, who also led all scorers with 18 points. Cougar guard Keil Peebles scored 13. Quincy was paced by Cornell Benford, who scored 17 points.

At 75 pounds, Steve Smith of Prather won over Dan Favier of Coolidge; at 125, Joe LeFaster of Coolidge beat Randy Steffen.

At 155, John Stanton of Prather beat John Suggs. David Owen of Prather won by forfeit at 170 and Paul Hildecock of Coolidge defeated Mike Howland in their heavyweight bout.

Prather Junior High's wrestling squad played host to Edwardsville Tuesday afternoon, with the hosts coming out on top 49-94.

Chiefs drop two to Edwardsville

Prather Junior High's basketball Chiefs dropped a pair of games to Edwardsville Junior High yesterday. They lost the seventh grade game 58-29 and fell in the eighth grade encounter, 57-32.

Differing needs can be met—new provost

Vice-President and Provost Earl Lazerson of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville said Tuesday he believes the university can become a model in providing "excellence of learning" to a region with widely differing needs.

Speaking to the university community, the vice-president and provost clarified the academic mission of the institution and called on the faculty, staff, students and administration to work together in helping SIUE become "the best of our kind."

Lazerson emphasized the racial, ethnic, social, cultural and economic diversity of this area. He said many of the region's inhabitants are economically or educationally disadvantaged and would not have opportunities for higher education if SIUE did not exist. He said:

"To become a model, we must prepare ourselves to redress the educational deficiencies which exist among so many of our students at entry—and establish clearly defined expectations regarding needed skills and competencies, not only for matriculation, but at earlier stages of university work."

"We must develop and support those programs that meet the majority's need for employment upon attainment of the baccalaureate degree, while instilling in every student the values of a liberal education."

"We must be attentive to the needs of adult students for the additional education at the graduate level or through continuing education opportunities."

"And we must focus our research and service efforts so that we advance area economic and social development and aid the improvement of those attitudes and values of our community that will enhance the quality of life and the general welfare."

The vice-president and provost said it is important in the resolution of existing difficulties for the university to review and evaluate its current status.

To accomplish this, several task forces have been appointed to report on various university operations and to study specific areas of concern.

Included are task forces on recruitment and retention, continuing education, area development, and faculty and staff development.

A task force on general education will be appointed in the near future, Lazerson revealed.

He praised the University Senate for its "self-study" with a major objective of "devising an organizational structure through which the faculty voice can be more clearly heard on matters of faculty welfare and educational concern."

Lazerson said the SIUE Board of Trustees appears to have accepted the principle that SIUE and SIU at Carbondale are distinct universities with distinct missions and concerns, and he said the Illinois Board of Higher Education is expected to concur with the university's recent recommendations regarding programs and support at the School of Dental Medicine and the East St. Louis Center.

It also was pointed out that President Kenneth Shaw has initiated dialogues with members of the legislature, other officials of government, and representatives of business and industry to inform the "larger community" of the services the university provides and its leadership in the solution of regional problems.

Discussing the university's mission, Lazerson said, "Above all else, I believe that our basic goal as a university must be to provide the citizens of this region with maximal access to quality education."

"As primary goals for our research and public service programs, I offer the following: preservation of the regional cultural heritage; advancement of area economic and social development; and improvement of those attitudes and values of our community that will enhance the general quality of life."

Explaining his concept of "quality education," Lazerson said, "Excellence in education ultimately depends on our ability to nurture and instill those competencies and attributes at all levels of learning that represent mankind's finest efforts."

He said students should possess the basic skills of reading, writing, calculating and speaking, and he also listed other attributes he believes are desirable outcomes of education:

"Substantive knowledge of our cultural heritage; intellectual tolerance and integrity; aesthetic sensibility; love of continued learning; moral sensitivity and courage; and an appreciation of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship."

The vice-president and provost said he does not agree that the university must choose between liberal education and vocational preparation. "I believe it is within our power to integrate them," he said.

Lazerson declared that SIUE must present "a balanced curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, which takes into full account the employment needs of our students and the career opportunities presented by the region."

He added, "It is imperative that we provide comprehensive programs which will meet regional needs for trained personnel."

"It is equally important that we thoroughly apprise our students of the vocational possibilities open to them, so that they can wisely choose those options that will best fulfill their individual purposes."

Turning to means to realize the university's objective, Lazerson said:

"For the commuting student, scheduling must be seen as an integral part of curriculum planning; transportation facilities must be developed. And means must be provided, through cultural and recreational activities and non-classroom encounters, so that a sense of shared learning and intellectual inquiry is fostered."

"The adult student, whether interested in education for mid-career change, professional upgrading, or lifelong learning, will require appropriate missions counseling and procedures governing the evaluation of equivalencies and other life experiences."

"To provide access to the financially disadvantaged, must keep costs at a minimum, and to the extent possible offer on-campus employment."

"For the gifted, appropriate challenges must be presented. The Presidential Scholars Program is a welcome addition in this regard."

"For the educationally disadvantaged, there must be adequate admissions counseling and evaluation and the provision of tutorial instruction in those skills essential to university work."

"We must provide opportunities to minorities, women and the handicapped in areas in which they are currently underrepresented, and actively encourage their participation."

"Our instructional units must heed the fact that most of our graduates will base their careers on their baccalaureate degrees, and that their subsequent advancement may well depend on additional work-related educational training."

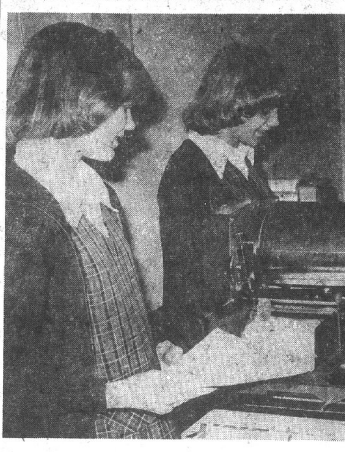

"In this regard, the development of both credit and non-credit continuing education programs is essential."

Lazerson emphasized that public service is "an integral part of our mission," and he said basic research is necessary if the institution is to function as a university.

"To achieve our ends in both service and research, it is important that faculty and staff initiatives be encouraged and supported," he said.

Urging a climate of "mutual trust and respect among faculty, staff, students and administration," Lazerson pledged his personal support of the principles of "equity, fairness and justice that should underlie all our relationships."

In conclusion, he said: "I believe that learning is essential for the full intellectual and emotional development of human beings. I believe that the quality of life in our society would benefit immeasurably if the availability of educational opportunity were increased. And I believe we have an obligation as educators to insure that those we serve have this opportunity."

Registration centers open on weekend

Special voter registration centers will be conducted in the Quad-City area during the weekend at four locations. Newly qualified voters may register at any of the centers to permit them to vote in the March 21 primary election. Deadline for registering in that election is Feb. 21.

Registrations also are being accepted at the office of County Clerk Evelyn Bowles in the courthouse at Edwardsville. The special centers in this area are operated by deputies from Miss Bowles' office as a convenience to area voters.

Centers to be conducted include: Granite City — Kroger Store at Nameki Village, noon to 7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 3; Colonial National Bank, 2400 Pontoon Road, Friday, Feb. 3; Cohen's Foods, 2201 Illinois Ave., noon to 5 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 4.

Venice — Solo Bank Grocery, 1104 Logan St., 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 4. Additional centers will be conducted later through the Feb. 21 deadline, Miss Bowles announced.

VAN IS STOLEN The metallic blue 1976 Dodge van of Gary Scheidter, St. Louis, was stolen from the parking lot of Corral Lounge, 304 Nameki Road, between 8:30 p.m. and midnight Tuesday. The van has magnesium wheels and has blue and purple flames painted on the sides.

National leader urges continuing fight for Equal Rights Amendments

By ALICE M. CURLESS
Eleanor Smeal, president of the National Organization for Women, urged support for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment in an address to the local NOW chapter in observance of Alice Paul Day Tuesday night.

Addressing a large crowd at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, she said NOW endorsed the ERA in 1967 and continues to support it. "We believe it is an essential step in gaining equality for women."

Mrs. Smeal urged support of candidates who are in favor of the ERA in the upcoming elections in Illinois. She called for a national boycott by organizations planning conventions, asking them not to meet in "un-ratified states." She also urged members of the audience to write their representatives in support of H.R. 663, a bill now before Congress which would extend the seven-year time limit set for ratification of the women's rights amendment.

"There is no blueprint to equality," she said. "A majority of Congress set the time limit and a majority of Congress can extend the limit." The speaker said she had been present when Alice Paul, who wrote the first Equal Rights Amendment presented to Congress in 1923, urged that a time limit not be set for its ratification.

"But how could we know, seven years ago," said Mrs. Smeal, "that we would be speaking more about bathrooms than about equality for women?"

"Because opponents could not attack the principle of equality in employment and education," they attacked with unisex toilets.

"There have been many distortions about the National Organization for Women, the ERA and the women's movement in general. "If you can't defeat the idea," she said, "you can discredit the supporters."

She said distortions continue despite the fact that 35 states have ratified the ERA, and that in a recent poll 91 per cent of the people supported equal pay for equal work. She said that only a few years ago this was an unacceptable concept for many people. "We went from unaware or against, to almost total support," she said.

"Many major corporations are helping to fund opposition to the ERA. They are certainly not funding us," she said. "We have no major corporate contributors."

She added that she believes many who are opposed to the ERA "know that it will help equalize employment practices and are profiteering from the work of women by delaying its passage."

"We will not be discouraged, and the ERA will not go away. I hope when I am old I will not still be fighting for the ERA. I have a nine-year-old daughter and I am determined she will not have to."

Mrs. Smeal said she believes her children and grandchildren will be proud of her stand on equal rights and will brag about it.

"No one today brags that their parents or grandparents were against women's right to vote," she asserted.

State Rep. Jim McPike of Alton said Tuesday night that he believes the Illinois state legislature will ratify the Equal Rights Amendment this year, due largely to the effect in Chicago of a national boycott of conventions.

He made the statement when he was introduced from the audience at the Alice Paul Day observance.

In a later statement, Rep. McPike noted the amendment was passed by a few votes short of passage last year, and that many of the opponents were from upstate.

Sanitary board, teamsters agree on contract terms

Negotiation of new contracts with locals 50 and 325 of the Teamster Union have been completed by the Metro-East Sanitary District, it was reported during a meeting of the board in East St. Louis Tuesday.

Details of the proposal were not immediately disclosed pending ratification of the new pact by union members who were scheduled to act on the agreements today. The new contracts then will be subject to board action in a meeting Feb. 21.

Negotiation of new contracts involving about 50 employees of the district has been under way since October.

The new agreements cover ten employees in the Granite City sector of the district and 40 employees in East St. Louis.

Passage of the district's 1978 tax levy was postponed Monday.

The levy is expected to be acted upon today in a meeting at East St. Louis. The delay resulted from the time schedule for legal publications mandated by law, board members said.

Gene Tuck to 'anchor' Mardi Gras cancer ball

Gene Tuck, a St. Louis television newscaster, will serve as master-of-ceremonies at the American Cancer Society's Mardi Gras Ball, it was announced this week by the executive planning committee.

The ball will take place Saturday evening, March 11, at the Lewis and Clark Ballroom in East Alton.

A patrons' party, planned from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Alton, will precede the traditional dance.

Tuck, 39, is anchorman of Channel Two news. He previously worked in San Antonio, Tex. His coverage of events has earned him several statewide awards, including those for telecasts on Hurricane Carla and the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Study request for new radios

A request by the South Roxana Fire Department for a $4,868 grant from Chouteau Township to purchase new two-way radios was taken under advisement by the Chouteau Town Board during the board's regular meeting Monday night.

The board discussed the possibility of including the item in the new revenue sharing budget which is being prepared. Also discussed was the possibility of purchasing a public address system for the community center building.

Town Clerk Patricia Polley was asked to seek prices from several firms on a public address system adequate to meet the township's needs.

The board decided to purchase a photocopy machine costing $2,995, less $200 for trade-in unit, from A.B. Dick Co., subject to approval by the township's attorney. The attorney is to rule whether bids should be sought for the purchase.

It was explained that proposals from about 10 companies had been received and studied by the trustees and the A.B. Dick proposal met the township's needs at the lowest cost.

A contract also was awarded to Delux Janitor Service to strip and resurface the floor in the community center at a cost of $266. Delux was the lowest of three bidders for the work.

Mrs. Polley reported a $24,630 revenue sharing check and a $1,500 Anti-Recession Fiscal Assistance Act grant check have been received and deposited in the township's bank accounts.

Admission to the show will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, with prizes awarded, according to Mrs. Barbara Harold, president.

Price Brothers could seek to recover the money.

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees refused to pay the $900 for the pipe until it could be shown Mr. Stoltz had paid for it.

The attorney for Price Brothers threatened to seek a legal injunction freezing the township's accounts until the $900 was paid to Price Brothers as partial settlement of the bill. The township attorney suggested that, if the township is forced to pay the bill, it issue a check bearing the names of both the pipe company and Mr. Stoltz's estate, so that both will have to endorse the check before it can be cashed.

The $900 bill remains on the highway department's books, but the issue has been dormant since the Stoltz death. Attorney Irvin Stoltz's letter to Estes outlined the problem. He said, "As you know, Mr. Stoltz purchased the pipe from Price Brothers Independent Concrete Pipe Co."

"Mr. Stoltz paid for the pipe by delivery of a check in the amount of $2,410.30 written against the State Bank of St. Jacob, dated May 22, 1975."

"The check was returned from the St. Jacob Bank and designated 'account closed.' We are, of course, very disappointed that Mr. Stoltz was not able to honor his check."

"I understand that you are holding the sum of $900 which is owed to Mr. Stoltz by Chouteau Township in payment for the pipe."

"I hereby request and demand that you pay the sum of $900 to Price Brothers, Independent Concrete Pipe Co. in partial satisfaction of the debt owed by Harold Stoltz."

"Price Brothers Independent Concrete Pipe Co. claims a lien on all public funds held for satisfaction of your contract with Harold Stoltz relating to the above-mentioned 300 feet of 24-inch pipe."

Estes purchased numerous items from Mr. Stoltz, according to public records, including salt pipe and materials, up until the time Mr. Stoltz died suddenly in the Macon County Jail near Decatur.

The concrete pipe was used to change drainage in a ditch along Lakeview Drive from an open ditch to an underground 24-inch pipe.

At a July 1975 Chouteau Town Board meeting, Supervisor Walter Sparks alleged the work was unnecessary and "a waste of township money."

He contended the ditch should be left open, because it would carry more water than an underground system. It also could be cleaned more easily than a pipe, if it becomes clogged, he said.

Sparks charged at the time that the ditch was to help drain farm property and not the township roads, although work to protect roads is the only drainage authority given by law to highway commissioners.

I Peter 4:7 "But the end of all things is at hand, be sober, sober, and watch unto prayer."

Peter knew it in his day, and he believed it. Many people know the end is near today, but they don't believe it. Peter instructs us to be sober and to watch unto prayer.

Most of my observations show that today more and more people are lovers of pleasure, seeking for any diversion from reality.

America must realize that prayer to God, with a sober mind, is the only solution for our nation.

By praying, we conform to God's standards for our lives... we become like Him in all things.

The change for our nation and the rest of the world must start with the individual. It could start with you, today.

Medicare medical insurance

(Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal)

Q. Can you tell me who is eligible for Medicare medical insurance, and what do you have to do to get it?

A. People who didn't sign up for the medical insurance part of Medicare when they first became eligible — or who have cancelled the protection one time — can enroll Jan. 1 through March 31 at any Social Security office.

Medicare medical insurance is offered to people who reach 65 and are eligible for Social Security benefits, to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for at least 24 consecutive months, and to many people with permanent kidney failure.

Nine out of 10 people eligible are enrolled in the program. Some people, however, decline the protection when they're first eligible — and some sign up once and cancel later. They can enroll the first three months of any year, and their protection will start the following July 1.

Medicare medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses. It's the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and federal general revenues. The basic premium is $7.70 a month through June 1979 and will be $8.20 a month starting in July.

People who did not sign up when they first became eligible pay a higher premium. And people who sign up and cancel later can re-enroll only once.

Medical insurance supplements the hospital insurance part of Medicare. Medicare hospital insurance is extended without premium charge to people 65 or over who are eligible for Social Security benefits, to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for at least 24 consecutive months, and to many people with permanent kidney failure.

Medicare hospital insurance is funded primarily by Social Security contributions from employees, employers, and self-employed people.

People 65 or over who aren't eligible for Social Security benefits can apply at any Social Security office and get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a monthly premium. The basic premium is $64 a month through June 1979 and will be $63 a month starting in July.

People who buy Medicare hospital insurance must also sign up for Medicare medical insurance and pay the monthly premium. They can sign up Jan. 1-March 31.

People who have worked long enough under Social Security to get Medicare hospital and medical insurance for themselves and their family if they have permanent kidney failure and need a kidney transplant or dialysis.

Over 25 million people have Medicare protection. Quad-Cityans may write or call Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal's Senior Action Centers at 180 N. LaSalle, Chicago, 60601, or a West Old Town Mall, Springfield 62701 with questions or concerns about any government agency or programs. This column will be covering the questions senior citizens have on various subjects.

THEFT FROM TRUNK

The trunk lock was punched in to gain access to the auto of Ken Ramsey, 2100 St. Clair Ave., and tools and other items were stolen, Ramsey reported Monday. He said the incident occurred in his driveway last week. Taken was a tool box, about $400 worth of tools, the spare tire and wheel, four jumper cables and five concrete blocks.

need for such housing and the financial obligation it would entail.

Other churches have joined the original group and are distributing questionnaires to church members and residents seeking an overall reaction to the plan for building of homes, apartment complexes or condominiums.

Participating in the long-range program with the three sponsors are the Madison United Methodist Church, First Baptist Church of Granite City, Central Christian, Mitchell United Presbyterian, Grace Baptist, Trinity United Methodist, Nameoki United Methodist and Hope Lutheran Churches.

Information compiled by the task force at this point shows that some people who reach retirement age or must retire because of disability, and do not own their homes find rental of apartments or houses is nearly prohibitive with their fixed retirement income.

Some are being forced to move to less desirable homes to fit within their financial budget, it is believed.

A community for elder citizens could be considered in various ways and would provide better security for the residents, according to a spokesman for the investigating group.

Retirement communities are basically planned to be self-contained and include all necessary facilities for the residents to patronize.

Recreation areas would be incorporated within the boundaries of the complex as well as barber and beauty shops, a grocery store, drug store and possibly clothing boutiques and dry cleaning shops, current planning indicates.

The questionnaire includes 12 specific questions relative to the project and must be completed in order for there to be comprehensive findings, the churches say. The report will be made by Medical Properties, Inc., located in Des Moines, Iowa, and Kansas City, Mo.

Questions include: "Would you be interested in retiring to a church-sponsored planned retirement community where you would be living in complete independence, but where planned activities, transportation, utilities and medical care are furnished?"

"Would you consider a living care program that would allow you to make an entrance fee payment or deposit that would provide housing and care for as long as you needed them?"

"Does the availability of nursing care if or when needed by you or your spouse, interest you?"

"Would you have available assets that could be liquidated such as your home, to make an entrance fee of at least $15,000, of $20,000, of $25,000, of $30,000 or over $30,000?"

"If you were to reside in a planned community, would you desire a studio apartment, one bedroom, two bedroom, or 'four plex'?"

"Would you prefer to take one meal per day, two meals a day, three meals per day in the main dining room?"

"Would you prefer the location to be in a rural area, a suburban area or centrally located within the city?"

"Your age is 70-71, 72-75, 76-79, 80-84, 85-89, 90-94, 95-99, 100 and over?"

"Your monthly retirement is $200, $250, $300, $350 or $400-and-over?"

"You are single; married; if married, age of spouse; widow or widower?"

"Would you like your church to join the sponsors of this survey in developing a non-profit organization to create the retirement center?"

"I would be interested in an 8 percent debenture to help finance this project?"

All the questions may be answered with a "yes" or "no" or by encircling a bracket on age, income or marital status, and the form does not have to be signed.

Each individual questionnaire will be included in the evaluation of the proposal whether it is signed or not, it was noted.

Some of the churches involved in the program will distribute the questionnaires this Sunday and others have selected Sunday, Feb. 12, to offer the forms to their members.

At the end of three weeks, all the informational forms will be collected and forwarded to the Des Moines-Kansas City firm for compilation.

Within about two or three months the results will be submitted in a report to the local churches, when a decision will be made as to whether it is feasible to proceed with the plan in this area.

The task force announced it has no definite area in mind for the project at the present time, and the location would probably depend on the answers as to rural, suburban or city region preferred by the potential residents.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES GWINNUP whose wedding was solemnized at Central Christian Church. Formerly Miss Deborah Barnes, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin T. Barnes, 860 Newport Bay Drive, Holiday Shores, Edwardsville.

(Hollywood-Andrew Studio)

Gwinnup-Barnes wedding at Central Christian

Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, was the scene of the wedding on Jan. 14 of Miss Deborah Barnes, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin T. Barnes, 860 Newport Bay Drive, Holiday Shores, Edwardsville, and James Gwinnup, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gwinnup of Oviedo, Fla. Wicker baskets filled with blue and white flowers, burning tapers in brass candelabra and satin bows on the pews, provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. V. Dennis Rutledge.

Organist Joyce Harris accompanied Kelly Cottrell as she sang, "Bridge Over Troubled Waters," "The Wedding Prayer," and "You Light Up My Life."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Barnes chose a long georgette gown fashioned with a high neckline and bishop sleeves enhanced with Chantilly lace and ribbon inserts.

Her gathered skirt was encircled with a deep flounce accented with matching lace. She wore a fingertip veil of bridal illusion bordered with wide scallop lace and she held a nosegay of carnations tipped in blue hues with white Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Matron of Honor was Mrs. Peggy A. Warren, a sister of the bride. She wore a formal length powder blue polyester dress in an Empire style complemented with a dark Navy blue velvet capelet with a high neckline.

She carried a nosegay similar to the bride's bouquet.

The groom selected his brother, David Gwinnup, as best man.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at the American Legion Hall, 1825 State St.

A dinner was served in the church fellowship hall after the rehearsal, for members of the wedding party.

A 1977 graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is employed as a bank teller in West Palm Beach, Fla. The groom is a graduate of Oviedo High School and works at the West Side Blueprint and Supply Co., West Palm Beach, Florida.

Nameoki Presbyterian plans Lenten services

A heightened awareness of spiritual reality and the world's hunger problem will take place in the Lenten sacrificial soup suppers to be held each Wednesday evening during Lent in the Nameoki Presbyterian Church. The event will begin at 6:16 p.m. and conclude at 7:17 p.m.

"Where It All Began" will take the congregation back to the Bible events for a larger understanding of the Christian faith. There also will be a devotional service according to the Rev. Don Pierson.

"New Perspectives on the Parables" will be the theme of the Sunday morning men's breakfast at 8 a.m. with the men taking turns in the preparation of the breakfast. Pastor Pierson will lead the Bible study. This is a "father and son" opportunity for sharing of fellowship and faith.

Perline-Suess nuptials

Miss Marilyn Suess and Joel Perline were united in marriage on Jan. 21, at 11 o'clock in the morning at the Clayton, Mo. courthouse.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Suess, 1516

Cottage Ave. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Perline, reside in University City, Mo.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin Miss Maureen Suess.

The groom chose his brother, Harlan Perline, as best man. A reception was held after the morning ceremony at the Clayton Inn, for relatives and friends.

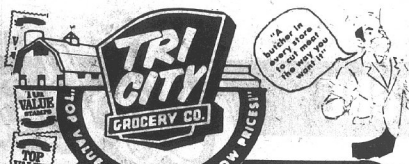

Burning Hell film Saturday

A second showing of the film, "The Burning Hell," is planned at 7 p.m. Saturday at Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1800 Pontoon Road.

The Rev. Arthur Short, pastor, said a capacity audience viewed the movie on Jan. 22, and the return screening has been scheduled at the church by special request.

The public is invited to attend the free showing, the pastor said.

"The Burning Hell" was filmed in the Holyland and its sequences are explicit and the Bible wonders are shown in detail, the Rev. Short advised.

Permission required for campaign posters

Granite City Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer is reminding candidates and campaign workers in the upcoming primary election of a city law prohibiting the posting of advertisements on any public property without the authority of the mayor and city council. It also is unlawful to post political advertisements on privately-owned property, including utility poles, without the permission of the owner, Veizer said. City Ordinance 28.219 provides fines of from $1 to $100 for each offense with each day in violation being a separate offense.

Renew salary issue

It was announced at Monday night's Namecki Township Town Board of Trustees meeting that the finance committee plans to write a letter to Louis Whitsell asking him to make arrangements for repaying a part-time salary advance to Whitsell's wife, Dell, while Whitsell was township supervisor.

The letter from the finance committee will ask Whitsell if he plans to repay the money, or if he has received additional information to support his claim that he is not responsible for it. In other business, the trustees voted to transfer budget appropriations in two accounts to provide more for labor. The additional funds are necessary to pay overtime the township's highway employees earned working long hours during the recent snowstorms to keep roads and streets open, it was explained.

In the road and bridge fund, $1,186 was transferred from the materials category into labor, bolstering labor to $7,469. In the special hard road fund, $6,814 was taken from materials and placed into labor, increasing the labor appropriation to $12,994. After the meeting, the township's health board met briefly to approve pending bills related to health programs.

Whitsell has said his wife was employed, when needed, for the general assistance department and he had a letter from the Illinois Department of Public Aid telling him he could utilize her, but not officially authorizing her hiring. Public Aid now says $6,842 of funds spent for general assistance were not authorized and most was for Whitsell's wife's salary. It is demanding the funds be repaid to the Department of Public Aid. The township has asked Whitsell to repay the funds, but Whitsell has not officially answered the request.

Charge reckless conduct

David L. Smith, 20, of Chain of Rocks Mobile Home Park, lot U, 910 West Chain of Rocks Road, was charged Wednesday with reckless conduct after a disturbance at that mobile home park at 2:15 a.m. Wednesday.

William Earhart, 26, of lot 46, Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, alleged Smith was in Earhart's mobile home when a fight developed. Smith was said to leave, go to his mobile home, get a shotgun and return to Earhart's home, allegedly firing a blast through the side of the mobile home.

Earhart suffered contusions to his nose, left eye and both arms in the earlier fight, but was not hurt by the shotgun blast. He was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was released after treatment.

Smith told Madison County sheriff's deputies that he got the shotgun only to scare Earhart and did not mean to hit the mobile home. Smith was charged at the scene with not having a firearm owner's identification card and Wednesday afternoon, the state's attorney's office issued an informational document alleging reckless conduct.

Fire guts home: $9,300 damage

Fire gutted the home of Larry Downs, 700 Twenty-sixth St., at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday, causing an estimated $9,300 damage.

An overloaded extension cord was believed to have overheated, catching a chair and couch on fire. Flames then spread throughout the house. Granite City firemen fought the blaze for one hour and 30 minutes, but were unable to halt it before the house was gutted. They were called back at 1:05 p.m. Tuesday when flames rekindled and were there 15 minutes. They were called a third time at 3:10 p.m. and again were there 15 minutes. Damage was estimated at $9,300 to the building and $2,500 to its contents.

CHARGED WITH THEFT
George Yeager Jr., 18, of 2948 Myrtle Ave., was charged this week with theft for allegedly possessing a motorcycle stolen from Mark Wilson in the 3000 block of Marshall Avenue Jan. 18. An anonymous caller told police the cycle could be found in a shed at Yeager's home and officers alleged finding it there. Yeager said he bought the motorcycle for $20 from another youth. Yeager was released on a $100 cash bond.

November ballot issues may be smaller house, open primary and merit judges

By AL MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Three groups are striving to reform the structure of government at the state level. All three issues may be voted upon at the November 1978 general election.

The most-publicized effort, at the state level, involves the open primary.

There is also an attempt to appoint judges rather than elect them.

A third effort involves reduction of the size of the Illinois House of Representatives.

State Rep. Dave Robinson, D-Springfield, and Pat Quinn of suburban Chicago are leading the open primary effort. They have been involved with a group known as the Coalition for Political Honesty.

Under current state law, a citizen voting in a primary election must ask for either a Republican or Democratic ballot.

That request becomes a matter of public record, and the information is often repeated loud enough for party workers to record — often to the embarrassment of the voter.

The purpose of the law is to insure that each political party have the opportunity to nominate its strongest candidates without members of the opposite party crossing over to vote for weak candidates.

The reform group proposes that each voter be given two ballots, one Republican and one Democratic.

The voter can mark for candidates only on one ticket, and the other ballot is then discarded. There is no public record of which party the citizen favors.

As a compromise, they have agreed voters would have to declare their party affiliation if they wanted to vote for party offices such as precinct committeeman, state committeeman, or delegate to a national convention.

This reform has been dubbed an "open primary," a popular name which it is hoped conveys the image of an open government.

Robinson won his first election based on his emphasis on the open primary.

In order to have the question placed on the ballot, 600,000 signatures must be collected by May.

Once on the ballot, the referendum is advisory only. Any change must still be approved by the General Assembly and signed into law by the governor.

Supporters say this is the first advisory referendum in the state in 40 years.

The proposed judicial change is supported by a group known as the Committee on Courts and Justice. George Ranney of Chicago is chairman of the committee and Donna Schiller is the executive director.

Under the current law, judges are first elected on a partisan basis as either a Republican or Democrat (or Independent).

Once elected, a judge simply runs for retention and need not face a challenge by an opponent.

The proposed change has become known as merit selection of judges.

The plan calls for a commission to be appointed — with non-lawyers being the majority of the commission.

This commission would recommend three persons for a judicial vacancy, and the governor would choose one of the three for appointment.

At the completion of the term, the judge would become a candidate for retention, as is currently the case.

The proposal would apply only to the Illinois Supreme Court and Appellate Courts.

At a later date, each judicial circuit would have the option of joining the merit selection process.

Proponents say the change is necessary because judges are often under the control of the political parties; sometimes the candidates are not qualified to become a judge; and a political campaign is not the most effective method to determine which candidate is the most qualified.

Any such constitutional change must be approved by the General Assembly and then approved by the voters.

The committee is now lobbying legislators to support the change.

The local option feature of the new proposal is designed to lessen Downstate opposition to the change.

The third group wants to reduce the size of the Illinois House, change to single-member districts, and abolish cumulative voting.

Under the constitution, three representatives are elected from each of the 59 legislative districts for a total of 117 representatives.

A unique system of voting — called cumulative voting — permits a citizen to cast three votes for one candidate; one vote for each of two candidates; or one vote for each of three candidates.

The proposed change would abolish cumulative voting — Illinois is the only state to have that system — and return to the normal one vote per candidate.

The change would also have one candidate elected from each of 118 legislative districts. The purpose of the current system is to insure that neither political party will have too great a majority in the House.

It is also favored by some persons because it permits the election of some high-caliber members who otherwise could not be elected in their districts in a head-to-head battle because their political affiliation is in the minority.

The group is now conducting a petition drive in an attempt to have the question placed on the November ballot.

A similar drive in 1974 failed because not enough signatures were collected.

The question was placed before the voters in connection with the adoption of the new state constitution in 1970. The measure then failed.

Multi-member districts were favored by 51 percent of the voters and single-member districts by 39 percent. The remaining 10 percent did not vote on the issue.

Law enforcement commission, Scott Base train supervisors

The Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (SILEC) regional mobile team in-service training unit and the heads of the U.S. Air Force Military Airlift Command, 37th Security Police Squadron, Scott Air Force Base, held a three-day supervisory training program for regional law enforcement supervisors.

Sergeants and lieutenants and for senior non-commissioned officer security police personnel. The January training program was held at Scott's NCO and Airman's Club, and its purpose was to upgrade and enhance the role of key supervisory personnel within their organization or command.

Major Jack Howe, commander of the 37th Security Police Squadron, and J. "Skip" Bennett, training coordinator, Regional Mobile Team In-Service Training Unit, identified a common training core of subjects endemic to Air Force security and local police supervisors. Both Major Howe and Bennett believe that the interchange and interaction generated during the training program "furthered the positive relationship which already existed between the Scott Air Force personnel and community law enforcement personnel in the SILEC region." Thirty-two individuals participated in this training, including personnel from the following police departments in addition to personnel from Scott security: Cahokia, Belleville, Fairview Heights, Granite City, Shiloh, O'Fallon, East St. Louis, St. Clair County sheriff department and Clinton County sheriff department. The project was supported by contributions from local governments in the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission region and Grant 2871 from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. Additionally, it was supported by the Air Force Military Airlift Command with in-kind support, including facilities, instructors and materials.

Art printing to be topic

The SUE department of art and design will present an evening with 19th Century printmaking, Thursday, Feb. 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the SUE Wagner Complex.

Robert Malone, professor in the department, who specializes in etching, will present the method of collotype — printing that produces the same tone and texture as photography. He also will present slides documenting this method of printing and will discuss his recent experiences at the Chicago Black Box collotype studio.

Prints illustrating the collotype technique will be exhibited and Malone will present a print to SUE. He will also discuss photogravure, a method of printing off large copper drums. Malone has taught at many universities and has exhibited his work nationwide. The program will be held in Building 196, Room 1011, and a reception will be held at 8:30 on the evening of the presentation. The public is being invited to attend.

STATE FILES SUIT ON FRANCHISE SALE

Attorney General William J. Scott has filed suit under the Illinois Franchise Disclosure Act against American Laminating Company, Inc., of Englewood, Colo., alleging violations of the Act. He alleges that the firm and individual defendants sold a franchise to Robert Mitchell and C. J. Kulick of Springfield for $24,500 in July 1976 when the firm was not registered to operate as a franchisor in Illinois.

Scott's suit lists four counts and asks that a $10,000 civil penalty be awarded on each count.

A devotional lesson was presented by Mrs. Beulah Fox for members of the Honor Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, Wednesday.

She chose for her topic an article written by Norman Vincent Peale entitled, "Gods Wonderful Promises" and included verses taken from the 1st Psalm. Mrs. Fox also reviewed a story on "Prayer and Quiet Time" by Stephen Olford.

The group met at the church in the morning for a quilting session and were served a dessert luncheon at noon by Mrs. Pearl Campbell, hostess for the day.

Snowmobile rides for Girls in Action

Rides on a fast-moving snowmobile highlighted an evening of fellowship and a slumber party for the Girls in Action, hosted during the weekend by Acteens of Calvary Baptist Church.

The girls were transported to the Madison County Baptist Grounds in Mitchell on the new Calvary Baptist Church bus. At the grounds, the group was met by John, Steve and John Ray Bivens with their snowmobile. The girls enjoyed "fast rides" around the grounds on the vehicle and then returned to Calvary Baptist Church on Washington Avenue for their party.

In the fellowship hall, the Acteens directed games, told ghost stories and served refreshments to the Girls in Action. Sleeping bags were used in the church nursery for the slumber party.

Serving as chaperones were Paula Linville, Delphine Kinder and Liz Trimble.

Acteens present were Vickie Meador, Janet Fox, Dynette Shreder, Tina Lyons, Cindy Jackovich and Steve Connor. The Girls in Action attending were Deana Hawkins, Barbie Wentz, Sheri Choate, Zebada Kinder and Debbie Brandt. Mrs. Gale Bivens leads the

Kathy Cruse, Delphine Kinder and Liz Trimble direct the Girls in Action corps, teaching girls in grades one through six about missionaries and how they can be of service to those in need around them, the leaders said.

Both groups meet each Wednesday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock in the second and third floor meeting rooms at Calvary Baptist Church.

There also is a B-Acteen group for boys in grades seven through 12 and the Royal Ambassador group for boys in grades one through six.

Cities allege overcharges in Illinois Power suit

A $46.5 million damage suit has been filed in U.S. District Court at Chicago against Illinois Power Co. by seven Illinois cities which contend the utility has been overcharging for electric power and has monopolized the power industry in the area.

Breese, Carlyle, Freeburg, Highland, Mascoutah, Peru and Princeton, which contend the company has refused to offer reasonable utility rates to the cities, which all operate their own power plants.

They contend the interconnection agreements with Illinois Power to provide additional electricity offered conditions which would make their existing generating plants "virtually useless."

The suit contends that IP has used "anti-competitive means," and has refused to sell power unless IP is granted franchise rights to serve retail customers within those cities.

It also contends the cities sustained $15 million in actual damages and were overcharged $1.5 million because of improper billing.

New toll units due on McKinley Bridge

Traffic crossing the McKinley Bridge at Venice soon will flow faster as plans to install new automatic toll units have been completed, according to Thomas Fields, bridge manager.

"Two toll units" will be installed, one for east and one for west-bound traffic.

This will give motorists two lanes in each direction, one if they have the correct change for the automatic toll and the other with a toll taker for bridge tickets and making change.

The old automatic toll machines have not been in use since 1972. They were installed in the early 1960s.

According to Fields, Joseph

Brooks, McKinley bridge consulting engineer has talked with representatives from other bridge administrations that use the same type of equipment to be installed, and reports are satisfactory.

The equipment will be rented on a monthly basis at $14 per day per machine from Automatic Toll Systems of New York.

Maintenance apparently is relatively simple, according to Fields, and the company has a representative in the St. Louis area for repair work.

The Martin Luther King Bridge in East St. Louis at the Gateway Arch use similar automatic collection devices from the same company.

The machines will accept any combination of coins making 30 cents and also will accept 50-cent coins, but no change will be given if they are used.

Should a slug, bottle cap or bent coin be tossed in, or less than 30 cents, the machine automatically will reject it. A bell will ring and lights will flash.

According to Fields, installation will take three days and depend on the weather being dry and at least 40 to 50 degrees.

Fields hopes to have the new automatic toll machines installed before April.

Mistrial in Bull case

After about seven hours of deliberation, the trial of suspended Madison County Deputy Larry Bull ended with a "hopelessly hung jury," and Circuit Judge A. L. Pezman declared a mistrial at 8 p.m. Monday.

Special prosecutor John Dale Stobbs pledged Tuesday that he will continue prosecution of the case "as soon as we can get it on the judge's agenda."

He noted there are three separate indictments against Bull, two charging theft and one alleging arson, and said the mistrial Monday affected only one theft charge.

Bull was tried on a theft charge for allegedly possessing a color console television set stolen from Bert's Audio-TV in Granite City.

After four days of testimony, the jury was released for deliberations at noon Monday.

They deliberated a short time before breaking for lunch.

After lunch, deliberations resumed again and at 3:30 p.m. Monday, it was announced there was a deadlock.

Judge Pezman ordered them to return and deliberate further and about 5:30 p.m. he gave them what Stobbs referred to as "the blockbuster charge."

Asking them to reach agreement on the original charge or on a lesser included offense.

At 8 p.m., the jury returned and reported it was still deadlocked and the judge polled the jury, finding 11 in favor of conviction and one woman against.

"There has been a real disappointment, but we want this clearly resolved one way or the other and the law requires we have 12 jurors unanimously agreeing for conviction," Stobbs said.

Bull, who resides in Collinsville, remains suspended from the sheriff's department while charges against him are pending.

In addition to the indictment alleging he received the stolen color console television set from Robert Gayan of Godfrey, who was the prosecution's chief witness, Bull has been indicted on a theft charge alleging he received a stolen portable television set from Gayan, also from the Bert's store here.

Bull also has been indicted on an unrelated arson charge alleging he set fire to his wife's auto Dec. 9, 1976, near Marine.

In closing arguments Monday, Stobbs alleged the two television sets and car stereo system Gayan said he gave to Bull were "payoffs" for Gayan, who wanted protection. He painted Gayan verbally as a "shady character" and said Bull should have known better than to receive items from a known shady character.

He also said Bull committed "an affront and disgrace to every hard-working, law-enforcement officer in this state and county" when he allegedly said he did not have to worry about serial numbers on the stolen merchandise since no one would search a deputy's house, according to Gayan's testimony.

Defense Attorney Bruce Cook said Bull was "caught in the county's" political environment," and Cook accused Stobbs of unequal treatment of Bull, because he was a police officer.

He emphasized that Bull and his wife traded in their old television for the color console set and agreed to pay an additional $200 for it.

He said Bull's wife first knew about the television set and was to give testimony against Bull, but she was judged for "marrying someone who had some crummy friends."

He also repeated his argument that Gayan is not a credible witness and had lied repeatedly to police after his arrest.

He also hinted that Stobbs may have made "a deal" with Gayan to give testimony against Bull before Gayan's trial begins, but Stobbs denied any agreements with Gayan.

Pledges study of state health care issues

Steve Maragides, candidate for the Democratic nomination as state senator, said Wednesday night that if elected one of his top priorities will be the in-depth study of health care issues in the state.

Maragides addressed a meeting of First Ward residents hosted by Alderman Charles R. Douglas at the Anchorage Homes Recreational Hall.

Maragides said that legislators must deal with many aspects of health care but one that is of particular concern to the elderly is the high cost of nursing home confinement.

"In most cases hospital costs are not of great concern to the elderly because medicare and private hospitalization insurance pay the biggest part. But the catastrophic blow to the senior citizen's savings comes when he is confined to a nursing home in situations which are not covered by medicare or private insurance."

Maragides said that at the present time the state of Illinois will pay for nursing home care only when a patient is down to his last $400 in assets if single or down to his last $600 in assets if married.

"This unfairly penalizes the citizen who through thrift has accumulated a modest savings balance," he said.

Maragides said that the area of health care is so vitally important that it deserves the intensive attention of the legislature. In a related issue Maragides said that later in the campaign he will issue his position statement regarding medical malpractice suits, the high cost of medical malpractice insurance, and its effect on high medical costs.

Others attending the meeting were Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Perrelli, Andreas Matosian, candidate for the Democratic nomination for circuit judge, and Vasil Efthimiou, candidate for the Democratic nomination for regional superintendent of schools.

Leave energy saving 1040 lines blank

The Internal Revenue Service says it would like to remind those individuals who had energy saving expenses last year that no legislation has been passed by Congress to date.

There are Quad-Cityans should leave the applicable lines (Form 1040, Lines 45 and 61a) blank when they file their return, it was explained.

If Congress passes legislation later in the year permitting an energy credit, the IRS will notify taxpayers through newspapers and other announcements.

Unit leaders saluted on 68th anniversary of scout program

Boy Scout Week, Feb. 5-11, spotlights the vast amount of time, energy and ability devoted to the movement on a voluntary basis.

Most people recognize the values of scouting for boys and young men and women, but the success of the scout program depends on the leaders chosen by the organizations that are chartered to use the program of the Boy Scouts of America.

These leaders — scoutmasters, cubmasters, den mothers, explorer post advisers — are directly involved with the young people they lead.

Activities related to character, citizenship and fitness form the backbone of the scouting program. And it's the unit leader who makes the program effective in the lives of the young people.

There also are assistant leaders, unit committee members, merit badge counselors, and an army of adults serving in the Chokolia Mound Council to support the unit leaders with training, activities, outdoor programs, and program helps. They, too, are important to scouting.

But on the 68th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America on Feb. 8, those men and women who serve as leaders of boys in cub scout packs and scout troops and of young men and women in explorer posts will be singled out for special recognition.

Such leaders deserve the thanks of everyone in each community because they are contributing untold hours of service for the benefit of youth. To them, all offer a heartfelt scout salute.

'Life quality' declines during '77

(National Wildlife)

The "quality of life" in the United States, measured by seven environmental indicators, declined during 1977 for the eighth consecutive year. The assessment is contained in the NWF's fifth annual Environmental Quality Index (EQI) report, appearing in the February issue of National Wildlife magazine.

The EQI study sizes up the nation's environment each year in terms of seven natural resources: air, water, minerals, wildlife, living space, soil, and forests.

In only one of these categories — forests — did the nation improve during 1977, according to the report.

It held its own in one other category — air quality — but declined in the other five.

The index figure or "score" for each resource is based on a combination of objective measurements and the subjective judgments of experts in the various fields. Rated on a scale of zero to 100, the country's forests got the highest mark (75) and its air quality the lowest (33).

The total score for the seven resources in 1977 was 343 (out of a possible 700), which would represent the "best possible environment".

This is four points below the EQI score for the year 1976 and 52 points below the first index, published in 1969.

The score for the country's forests edged up by one point, the report said, despite new demands for lumber to meet a "spectacular surge in home construction." The small gain was attributed in part to a reduction in waste caused by fires and pests, which destroy about 15 billion board feet of timber each year.

Air and water are the only indicators that have improved since the first index was compiled. The other five indicators were down in 1977, the report noted, because "long-standing negative trends" were not reversed.

The report cited a few up-beat developments in conservation during the year, such as the signing of a federal strip mining control act, a 50 per cent increase in appropriations for the federal Land and Conservation Fund, and the stepped-up efforts of some jurisdictions to rationalize growth and development.

It also detected a "thin ray of hope" on the solid waste front, with passage of the Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976. But the situation on water was more typical. There the study found that while industry is "cleaning up its act" — two-thirds of the country's municipalities "continue to drag their feet" — and miss deadlines for construction of required sewage treatment plants.

Despite efforts by many to "scale back their personal lifestyles," the adverse impact on the environment of more than 200 million Americans is still staggering, the report found, in a country where more than 70 per cent of the population live on less than two per cent of the land and 53 per cent live within 50 miles of an ecologically sensitive coastline.

A summary of the EQI indicators follows:

FORESTS. Up Slightly. The scales are tipping to bring wildlife habitat, watershed protection, and recreational uses of forest resources more into balance with timber interests.

The United States still grows more trees than it cuts (except on national forestland) because of better management, cutting, and production methods, both with housing construction "roaring out of the doldrums," a timber "famine" is expected to occur before the year 2020.

AIR QUALITY. No Change. Three of the "nation's worst pollutants" (sulfur oxide, hydrocarbons, and carbon monoxide) have been reduced by a third, and the Council on Environmental Quality predicts that air in most urban areas will meet health standards within a decade.

But Congress backtracked on clean air standards for automobiles and industry and weakened the "non-degradation" provision of the Clean Air Act of 1970 which protected unpolluted areas.

WATER. Down. All 40,000 of the country's community water systems came under federal supervision in 1977 — a step forward — but "evidence of contamination of our waters by toxic substances is growing."

Cities are lagging on sewage treatment required by federal law.

A "crash program" is needed to reduce the poisons in runoff from sources such as farmlands and city streets if water pollution is to be controlled.

WILDLIFE. Down. In a "year of contrasts" — many acres of wetlands were saved — but about 600,000 other acres were drained.

The federal government spent millions to preserve habitat — and billions to destroy it.

Congress labored to pass tough new environmental laws — even worked just as hard to weaken old ones ...

Congress appropriated about $160.3 million for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to continue its work, and then pumped $10.3 billion into dams and other public works projects.

MINERALS. Down. With motorists guzzling gasoline in record amounts last summer, mineral oil continued to rise.

The signing of the strip-mining bill was accompanied by providing them to the 20 workers and their families.

Annual cost of this painless incentive, the city gets 20 new jobs worth $183,060 per year (20 times the Georgia average income of $9,153).

That many new jobs will generate additional retail sales in the community worth another $183,060. And income and sales taxes will be paid on all of that.

Annual cost of paying 20 workers unemployment compensation in Georgia, $71,261. Annual cost of 20 public service jobs, $188,000.

These costs must be borne involuntarily by the taxpayers. The new plant would be provided voluntarily, by investors who hope to make a profit.

I gully of over-simplification? Of course. I haven't considered revenue transfers between the federal, state and local governments, or the possible incentive effects and costs of additional levels of tax relief, which might be needed.

I haven't tried to calculate the small positive impacts of the various welfare schemes on income and sales taxes.

Nor have I allowed for the fact that the 20 jobs might be transferred from someone else, because it is quite possible (and certainly desirable) for them to be brand-new jobs.

But even if all of that were taken into consideration, the difference in favor of private-sector job creation would still be dramatic in Plains or anywhere else.

Now, if I could only find a good way to explain this to President Carter, the 95th Congress, and a few others.

Tax, job creation issues are complicating factors in 1978

Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois — The state revenue picture will improve. Recent budget projections suggest the availability of new revenues for the 1978-79 fiscal year budget of $400 million to $425 million.

There has been some revenue growth, but the amount may appear minuscule when compared to the $186 million increase requested from the State Office of Education and the $94 million sought by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Governor James Thompson's ability to maintain a balanced budget will not be helped by the fact it is an election year. The budget has little surplus to dole out in the form of campaign favors and even less to share as tax favors. Yet, the 1978 gubernatorial campaign has already begun to set a tone of responsiveness to those seeking tax relief and tax assistance.

Both Governor Thompson and the Democratic challenger, Comptroller Michael Bakalis, have spoken of the need to create jobs and encourage economic growth in Illinois. Bakalis and Democratic legislative leaders have placed the top of the program for 1978. Two days later, in the governor's State of the State address, the importance of new jobs for Illinois' unemployed was reiterated.

Improving the state's economic condition will require a program. Representatives of the Illinois business community suggest the state's tax structure is less than competitive.

The governor addressed this subject in the State of the State address by saying, "The legislature should provide direct incentives for job creation, enabling us to compete with other states which already have similar incentives." Acceptance of recommendations for tax exemptions and incentives would reduce state revenues, at least in the short term.

Other alternatives for improving the state's economic condition would be to increase state spending on out-of-state promotional activities, and expand existing state-funded programs which assist industrial expansion or help the unemployed in locating jobs.

Nor can the creation of new programs to assist economic development be ruled out. Unfortunately, these suggestions may strain the state budget by shifting resources.

The individual taxpayer is seeking tax relief in 1978, also. Property tax protests which have occurred in several counties, including Cook, suggest that Illinois homeowners are vocalizing their desire for lower property tax bills. They want exemptions, and legislators are beginning to listen.

Nearly 50 bills concerning property taxes have been filed for the 1978 legislative session, which will not reconvene until March.

The major responsibility of the Illinois General Assembly in 1978 will not differ from that of 1977. State spending must be kept within the bounds of state revenues.

With the election still nine months away, neither candidate has been reluctant to discuss Illinois' tax structure. However, talk is cheap in an election year. Illinois does not have the flexibility of a billion-dollar surplus such as exists in California.

Illinois does have two gubernatorial candidates with the opportunity to demonstrate leadership through planning, innovation and creative development.

Tax reform and economic growth in Illinois involved risk. The components are present for a leader to present himself. The 1978 campaign may provide a great deal of interest for both corporate and individual taxpayers.

Some plains speaking about Plains, Ga.

By RICHARD L. LESHNER

President,

U.S. Chamber of Commerce

There's a lot of confusion today over the best way to create jobs for the unemployed;

Should the government hire them? Or should the government stimulate job-creation in the private sector?

It's an important choice, for jobless and taxpayers alike.

Rather than trying to take in the whole forest at once, let's try out the two rival methods of creation jobs for the unemployed; Should the government hire them? Or should the government stimulate job-creation in the private sector?

The population of Plains is 683, not counting dogs, cats and tourists.

If conditions in Plains were truly representative of the nation at large, we would expect to find a workforce of 306 (the most being children, the retired, and homemakers not seeking other work).

Of the 306, 286 would be working and 20 would be unemployed and looking for jobs.

What to do about those 20? We could create public service jobs for them, as some advocate.

According to the Congressional Budget Office, the annual cost of a public service job is $7,500 pay plus

$900 in administrative expense, for a total cost of $8,400 per job.

Would the community benefit from these jobs? Not much.

It is difficult for the government to create meaningful jobs that match the skills of the

A truck driver does not necessarily make a good teacher's aide, and so on. So the jobs created under public programs tend to be of the leafraking variety, which is frustrating for the workers and not really very helpful to the community.

But what if Plains takes another approach and tries to attract a new company to town to provide the jobs? Say, another peanut processing plant.

On the average, the cost of creating one new industrial job is $20,000. Thus, a small industrial plant employing 20 workers would have a capital cost of about $1,000,000.

Suppose Plains offers a prospective employer 50 per cent tax relief for 10 years?

The local tax on the plant is $6,300 a year. At the nominal cost of the tax "sweetener," therefore, $4,150 per year for 10 years. But at the same time, the plant will be paying $4,150 in taxes that Plains wasn't getting before, so the net tax loss is zero after the first 10 years.

After that, it's almost all gravy.

Plains will, of course, have to provide municipal services to the plant itself. It is already providing them to the 20 workers and their families.

Annual cost of this painless incentive, the city gets 20 new jobs worth $183,060 per year (20 times the Georgia average income of $9,153).

That many new jobs will generate additional retail sales in the community worth

another $183,060. And income and sales taxes will be paid on all of that.

Annual cost of paying 20 workers unemployment compensation in Georgia,

$71,261. Annual cost of 20 public service jobs, $188,000.

These costs must be borne involuntarily by the taxpayers.

The new plant would be provided voluntarily, by investors who hope to make a profit.

I gully of over-simplification? Of course.

I haven't considered revenue transfers between the federal, state and local governments, or the possible incentive effects and costs of additional levels of tax relief, which might be needed.

I haven't tried to calculate the small positive impacts of the various welfare schemes on income and sales taxes.

Nor have I allowed for the fact that the 20 jobs might be transferred from someone else, because it is quite possible

(and certainly desirable) for them to be brand-new jobs.

But even if all of that were taken into consideration, the difference in favor of private-sector job creation would still be dramatic in Plains or anywhere else.

Now, if I could only find a good way to explain this to President Carter, the 95th Congress, and a few others.

United support suggested for Wolf

To the Editor:

This letter is in reference to the upcoming primary election for state representative.

At present, the 56th District, which includes the Quad-Cities and the surrounding area, is represented by two men, neither of whom lives in the Quad-Cities.

It doesn't seem they could have a total view of the needs and problems of the Quad-City area.

It appears rather absurd that an area with a population of approximately 70,000 persons is not represented by a man from our area.

I am not asking for the backing of just any man from the Quad-Cities. I am asking for support of Sam Wolf.

Mr. Wolf has lived and worked in the Quad-Cities his entire life. His background indicates that he was at one time a steelworker at Granite City Steel before going into the service and then into the real estate business.

He was our state representative until last year, during which service he did an excellent job. This is borne out by the fact that he was appointed as a legislative assistant to the Illinois secretary of state's office.

Sam Wolf is a local man with the honesty and experience we need to help run our growing cities.

We, the people of the Quad-Cities, must have in order to put a man from our area in office to represent our Quad-Cities.

Positive developments

To the Editor:

Many thanks for the interest shown in the background developments within the Quad-Cities.

County-Illinois Department of Public Aid office at the Nameoki Village Shopping Center on your front page are a fine example of this.

Useful information on income taxes

To the Editor:

Your page, number 27, "Here's what's new for 1977 taxes" in the Thursday Jan. 26 issue was extra good and furnished some useful information. On the column, "Choose your preparer carefully," I would like to add a few other things to consider.

Otherwise, you may be overcharged. Then, I would not consider engaging a person who has a blind id with only a telephone number and no name or address.

We have many good, responsible tax practitioners in this area. Readers, if in doubt who to call, ask your banker, or call a service club like the Rotary or Optimist Club; they can make some suggestions.

Side streets hazardous

To the Editor:

I cannot for the life of me understand why our side streets are any better than they are in this kind of weather. In our street department lay, or don't they have the equipment they need?

Everyone who comes into our city from out of town, be it Edwardsville, Collinsville, Belleville or from across the river, complains about back streets and residential areas of Granite City.

They tell us all of their streets are clear, and they go anywhere in their city without trouble. It seems we people in this city pay enough taxes and need better service than what we receive.

I would choose a year-round firm of individual, not one that closed up after April 15. And I would find out just how much it was going to cost me in advance.

Budget to begin coal gas plant

(Press-Record Washington Bureau)

Funds for detailed design and initial construction of a coal gasification plant to be built either in Southern Illinois or Ohio are included in President Carter's proposed budget.

The Energy Research and Development Administration is earmarking $40 million in capital outlays for design and initial construction and $2 million for operating expenses for fiscal 1979, which begins Oct. 1, 1978.

Congress has authorized construction of two such demonstration plants to convert high-sulfur coal into pipeline quality gas.

However, funds have been budgeted only for one plant, and ERDA is proceeding on the assumption only one will be built, an agency spokesman said.

Competing for the demonstration project are the Illinois Coal Gasification Group and Conoco of Stamford, Conn.

ICGG is a consortium of five Illinois utilities—Central Illinois Public Service Co. of Springfield, Northern Illinois Gas Co. of Aurora, People's Gas Light and Coke of Chicago, Central Illinois Light Co. of Peoria and Northshore Gas of Waukegan.

The ICGG is designing a plant which would be built in Perry County, between Willisville and Cutler, on the southwestern Illinois Coal Corporation's "Captain" mine site.

Last June the ICGG and Conoco, which is designing a similar project for Noble County, Ohio, each was awarded a $22.5 million contract by ERDA for conceptual design and engineering.

Both groups are testing their concepts at pilot plants—the ICGG at a plant in Leatherhead, England, and Conoco at a plant in Westfield, Scotland.

It may be the end of the year before ERDA decides which group will get the design and construction contracts, Harvey Weisenfeld, assistant director of ERDA's Division of Coal Conversion, told this bureau.

"We were originally going to make the decision in July 1978," he said. "But now it probably will be four to six months after that."

Construction and operating funds for at least three years would total about $565 million for the Conoco project and about $485 million for the ICGG project, Weisenfeld said.

The federal government would pay 50 per cent of the construction costs.

On the Illinois project, the federal government's share would be $287 million, and the net cost to private industry would be about $228 million.

On the Ohio project, the government's share would be about $350 million, and private industry's net cost would be about $175 million.

Initial studies show the Illinois plant would be able to use 2,200 tons of high-sulfur Southern Illinois coal each day.

It would produce 18 million cubic feet of gas every 24 hours, or enough for the daily needs of three towns the size of Carbondale, Mount Vernon and Centralia.

Woodbury state Sierra leader

An SIUE counselor will serve as chairman of the statewide Great Lakes Chapter of the Sierra Club, Edmund "Ted" Woodbury was elected at a meeting of the club last week.

He is an academic adviser in the General Studies Division at SIUE.

Woodbury has voiced the opinion that "natural" and aesthetic values which would protect and preserve scenic areas, wildlife, rivers, parks, forests and wilderness lands must be prized and worked for by individuals.

"Population and development are relentlessly destroying natural features and life in an urbanized and agriculturalized Illinois. Citizens must become environmental activists if natural things are to be saved," he said.

Woodbury has been chairman of the Southwestern Illinois Piasa Palisades Group of the Sierra Club and was last year's conservation chairman and council delegate of the statewide organization.

He is a graduate of Wesleyan University in Connecticut and holds a master's degree in government and a specialist's certificate in counselor education at SIUE.

Woodbury is a former research assistant and Congressman Paul Findley (R-Ill.) and a former legislative assistant to Congressman James C. Cleveland (R-N.H.).

PUCINI IN ENGLISH. The opera "La Boheme" by Puccini will be presented Monday, Feb. 6, at 8:15 p.m. in Meridian Hall of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville by the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater.

Goldovsky opera group to perform

Puccini's "La Boheme" will be presented Monday, Feb. 6, at 8:15 p.m. in Meridian Hall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

It will be performed in English by the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater. The Goldovsky group has been successfully demonstrating for 25 touring seasons that opera can make sense to the 20th Century American public by presenting the works of leading lyric composers in English.

Most of the Goldovsky Opera Theater's translations are especially prepared for the company. While never aiming to misrepresent the composer's true intentions, they strive for English phrases that will sound in performance as if the composer had actually written the music for them.

Goldovsky strictly forbids his singers to watch his conductors during a performance. "Our productions," Goldovsky said, "are so thoroughly rehearsed that the singer and conductor know in advance every move and sound each is to make and become completely self-reliant in the actual performance."

In preliminary orchestral rehearsals, all the vocalists are required to sing with their backs to the conductor. This serves to develop still further their self-reliance and complete independence from visual directions, it is asserted.

The Goldovsky theater's rigid opera-in-English policy indicated by the company's principal purpose of presenting great opera as living theater. Boris Goldovsky said it is his conviction "that when an audience understands everything an operatic cast is singing, the public becomes far more critical of the action, stage business and character portrayals."

While staples such as "The Barber of Seville," "Don Giovanni," "Carmen," "Rigoletto," and "Tosca" are included in the Opera Theater's repertoire, the organization has expended more than half its time and budget on works rarely or never publicly performed elsewhere in the United States.

Rossini's "The Turk in Italy" received its first American production in 120 years by this company. Benjamin Britten's "Albert Herring," Mozart's "Idomeneo," and "The Trojans" of Berlioz were all given first United States performances by Goldovsky's troupe.

Exploding the theory that "only hackneyed repertoire will go at the box office," almost all of the company's performances, both at home and on tour, have been sold out.

Tickets for the Feb. 6 performance of "La Boheme" at SIUE are $1 for SIUE students and $2.50 for non-students at the University Ticket Office (692-2320).

Graduate school offers minority study grants

The Graduate School of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is seeking applicants for a number of graduate awards available for economically disadvantaged minority individuals who are residents of the St. Louis metropolitan area.

David Brown, assistant dean of the school, said higher priority will be given to residents of Illinois.

The awards provide a tax-free stipend of $280 per month and a remission of tuition and some fees for the academic year.

Intent of these special awards is to encourage further training for individuals who, because of their financial or economic situation, would not normally continue their education beyond the baccalaureate level.

The awards will aid in identification and motivation of financially and culturally deprived students and stimulation of their educational pursuits, Brown said.

Such awards are currently being held by degree-seeking students in business administration, counselor education, elementary and early childhood education, and speech pathology and audiology.

"The awards provide a valuable experience for individuals of the metropolitan area, and directly contribute to increasing the number of skilled and competent people committed to urban development and social involvement," Brown commented.

Applicants must be members of a federally-recognized minority group and be prepared to carry a minimum of 12 quarter hours of graduate credit during the period of the award.

Applicants must secure applications for admission to the SIUE Graduate School and economically disadvantaged minority graduate award applications from the Graduate School Records and Admissions Office, located in Room 2215 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

In addition, applicants must file financial statements for evaluation by the College Scholarship Service, for which there is a $4.50 fee.

The financial statement may be obtained through the SIUE Graduate School, or the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office in Room 2306 of the Rendleman Building.

Successful applicants must be admitted to a specific graduate program at SIUE during the period of the award, Brown said.

Deadline for receipt of all necessary application material is March 10. Successful applicants will be notified by April 28.

State fund balance seen as favorable

Illinois Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis reports that the available balance in the Illinois Combined Funds group at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1977, was $28 million less than at the same time the previous year.

Bakalis said, "Actually, the December 1976 figure was somewhat inflated because of changes in administration policy or procedures, so I'm not overly concerned about the fact that the 1977 figure is somewhat lower."

The comptroller continued, "The December figure we are quoting in our monthly fiscal report marks the first time in fiscal 1978 that the month-end available balance in the Combined Funds group was below comparable balances in fiscal 1976-77."

The monthly fiscal report makes the point that use of a "Combined Funds" comparison is a more consistent measure of the state's bill-paying ability, primarily because it takes into account large surpluses which have built up in special state funds. Bakalis has been critical of "policy shifts" which have allowed overly large balances to accumulate in special funds, and unnecessary spending from general funds.

The Combined Funds group includes general funds, university income funds, anti-pollution, capital development and school construction bond, and interest funds, as well as the agricultural premium, metropolitan exposition auditorium and office building fund, the metropolitan fair and exposition authority and reconstruction fund, the fire prevention fund and the vehicle recycling fund.

According to the report, total revenues in general funds at the end of six months of fiscal 1977-78 were $38 million more than total expenditures, which amounted to $2,907,000,000.

The fiscal report contends that a surplus of $38 million at the end of six months is a favorable position when compared to the $43 million surplus at the end of the first six months of the last fiscal year, when the initial impact of the tax acceleration program occurred.

"The comparison is even more dramatic when viewed in context with the $303 million deficit at the end of the first six months of fiscal 1976," Bakalis concluded.

Trooper Leo C. Sprankle, Madison, has been assigned to the newly-created Vehicle Identification Section (VIS) of the Illinois State Police for the nine counties in District No. 11.

Trooper Sprankle has assumed his duties in the post and completed a one week training program.

The VIS was established in an effort to reduce the increasing vehicle theft problem. Last year nearly 59,000 motor vehicles were reported stolen in Illinois.

The Illinois State Police first had a Vehicle Investigation Section in 1956. That section was incorporated into the investigative arm of the State Police in 1969.

"We decided to recreate the section," said Superintendent Lynn E. Baird, "in order to focus more attention on the ever-increasing vehicle theft problem. The troopers assigned to this function will be working with special agents of the Division of Investigation on major theft cases."

Sergeant Edward Lloyd said that the troopers returned to the training academy in January for specialized training in the collection and preservation of evidence at crime scenes.

"We feel that this additional training will enhance our effectiveness in making professional service readily available to other police agencies," Lloyd stressed, "these troopers will respond to calls for assistance in gathering evidence at crime scenes."

One trooper in each of the 15 geographic state police districts has been assigned to the new section.

Trooper Sprankle has been with the Illinois State Police for 19 years. He graduated from Madison High School in 1948. He and his wife, Anita, have three children. Two are married and the third is a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Appetite grows as temperature shrinks

How cold is it? And what effect does the weather have on you?

Cold weather might make you put on a few pounds or lose a bit, depending on your winter lifestyle, according to a Southern Illinois University at Carbondale nutritionist.

The person who exercises by shoveling snow or simply trekking across the stuff to the grocery store could require 10 to 30 percent more calories daily, says Frank Konishi. He heads STUC's food and nutrition unit in home economics education.

But for folks who don't exercise and spend much of their winter time indoors, those additional calories could mean a weight gain.

In any case, it's a myth that eating more food keeps you warmer, Konishi adds.

Although a high protein diet will produce more body heat during the digestive breakdown of the food, Konishi says the key to keeping warm is proper winter clothing.

And it's clothing — bulky coats, sweaters, scarves, gloves and the like — that makes an individual need more calories, Konishi explains.

Heavy clothing creates what researchers have termed the "hobbling effect" — making the body use more energy to perform simple tasks like walking, he notes. Hence, the body's need for caloric intake is increased.

All this could be the reason why some people experience ravenous appetites during the winter, but Konishi says research hasn't linked bigger appetites solely to cold weather.

New traffic laws

A list of new and revised state traffic laws has been released to all police departments and law enforcement agencies in the state. Following are some of the new requirements.

Motorized pedalcycles may be operated by anyone with a valid Illinois driver's license and do not need a motorcycle classification. Pedalcycles must have a white headlight at night and red reflector on the rear. Passengers on pedalcycles are prohibited unless the unit is designed for more than one person.

Vehicle accidents do not have to be reported to the state unless the combined damage exceeds $250. Formerly, accidents over $150 damage had to be reported.

The use of headset receivers (stereos, CB or other) is prohibited in vehicles, except for police and officials involved in traffic or safety engineering studies.

Drivers convicted of passing a school bus from either direction when visual signals on the bus are in operation shall have his driver's license suspended for 30 days.

Anyone who drives a commuter van to take persons to and from work must have a chauffeur's license.

Vehicles approaching a traffic light at which no light facing the vehicle is illuminated must stop before entering the intersection, as though a stop sign was present.

Vehicles designed to carry more than 10 persons may be up to 102 inches wide if they are used for public transportation, do not operate on county highways or township roads and are not used in areas where local law prohibits them.

Allows blue lights for Civil Defense emergency medical service units.

The law also allows a "registration sticker" attached to state license plates which will renew the registration for one year. Stickers will first be issued in 1979.

End of teacher surplus believed to be drawing near

The end of the teacher surplus may be approaching, according to the director of placement services at Illinois State University (Normal-Bloomington).

In fact, despite such factors as declining enrollments in elementary and secondary schools, ISU Placement Director Parker Lawlis believes that public school administrators already are feeling the effects of what may become a full-fledged teacher shortage.

In a nationwide survey of schools of education, Lawlis and associates William T. Voorhies and Alex Moody of the Association for School, College and University Staffing found that the number of college students completing student teaching between 1970-71 and 1975-76 declined 28 per cent at the elementary level and 29 per cent at the secondary level.

Those percentages translate to 10,000 fewer students preparing for elementary teaching and 15,000 fewer students in secondary programs. Data were based on responses from 427 institutions out of 1,260 placement offices originally surveyed by mail.

At Illinois State University, which ranks first in Illinois in production of teachers, the number of students who graduated with bachelor's degrees in education dropped from 1,822 in 1973-74 to 1,217 in 1976-77.

"Illinois schools have declined too rapidly in the production of teachers," Lawlis observed, and—based on the number of juniors enrolled in schools of education throughout the state—"the decline will continue, and we'll be back to the 1960-65 era when there weren't enough teachers."

As the number of new teachers has declined, says the ASCUS report, the trend in the annual U.S. birthrate shows signs of reversing.

"According to the 'Vital Statistics Report,' published monthly by the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the number of women in the childbearing ages increased two per cent between 1974-75 and is expected to increase another 10 per cent by 1980.

"These projected changes are expected to raise the future number of births by as much as 10 per cent in the 1980s."

Other factors also lend credence to the teacher shortage theory. First, Lawlis said, there's been an annual turnover rate of eight to 10 per cent in past three or four years among teachers in the field.

"Indications are that the turnover rate will remain constant," Lawlis said, "and that it will override the effects of declining enrollment in the lower grades."

Then there's the legislative bill allowing for early retirement at age 55.

"If that bill passes," Lawlis said, "we could lose immediately 6,000 teachers who would be eligible for retirement the first year. That loss alone would be nearly equal to the oversupply of the past three or four years."

Those persons who were forced into other job markets because of the oversupply of teachers in 1969 and succeeding years are not as appealing to school administrators as recent graduates for filling vacancies, Lawlis believes.

"Their chances for teaching jobs will be improved if there is a shortage—and if they have the right background of courses to fill specific vacancies."

"But, in general, administrators prefer recent graduates over persons who have been out of the market for a time."

"We continue to find that public school administrators prefer teachers who are certified to teach in several subject areas, rather than just one. The quality of preparation must be balanced by breadth."

"Students who set geographic limitations for themselves when seeking employment produce almost insurmountable problems."

Finally, Lawlis said, state education boards are becoming ever more stringent in requirements for teacher certification and approval of education programs, a factor that can further reduce the number of new teachers and that may "put some schools out of the teacher education business."

While demand for teachers of industrial technology, agriculture, reading, mathematics, science, some areas of special education and others has remained consistently high throughout the period of oversupply in other fields, greater opportunity also exists in fields such as physics, chemistry, English and special education, according to Lawlis.

And, "people graduating this year in major fields will not have trouble finding jobs," he predicts. Currently, Lawlis said, "98 per cent of ISU graduates in education are teaching."

At the same time, he added, enrollments in English, mathematics and history at ISU have "gone down drastically." The number of math and English majors at Normal is down 80 per cent, while history majors are down 85 per cent. "We've always been truthful about the percentage of teachers who would not find employment," Lawlis said, "and the image of teaching is negative among high school counselors, parents and prospective students. Now we have to improve the image."

"School boards have consistently believed that there is an unending supply of teachers, but we know different. Some schools are already feeling the effects of the shortage in some areas."

Parents for Special Education set events

The Parents for Special Education group has several events planned during February, including a Car-diopolymnary Resuscitation class on Thursday, Feb. 9, and social activities for young people on other dates.

Steve Missy, Emergency Medical Services coordinator, will be guest speaker and provide instruction in cardiopolymnary resuscitation at the Thursday, Feb. 9 meeting of Parents for Special Education.

The meeting and class will take place from 5:30 p.m. until about 10 p.m. in the Office of Special Education, now located in the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Persons interested in taking the instruction are asked to call Mrs. Kay Hahne, at 451-9832. A limit of 12 people has been set for the instruction, the parents' group president advised.

On Friday, Feb. 10, a Valentine's Day dance will be sponsored at the Venice Recreation Center for young people 15 years old and over. Mrs. Hahne said. The dance will be held from 7:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. and 50 cents will be charged for admission.

A "king and queen" will be crowned during the evening. Those attending are required to provide their own transportation to and from the dance, Mrs. Hahne said.

The February skating party, sponsored by Parents for Special Education, is arranged for Tuesday, Feb. 20, from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. at the Stardust Skating Rink in Pontoon Beach.

A 50-cent skate rental fee will be charged.

A dance at the Alton Niagara School for all handicapped persons, 15 years of age and older, will take place Friday, Feb. 24. A 50-cent admission fee will be charged.

Transportation to Alton will be provided, with a bus leaving the parking area on the north side of the Granite City Press-Record, 1815 Delmar Ave., promptly at 6:45 p.m.

Those planning to attend are being asked to notify Mrs. Hahne in advance.

Rites held for Taylor infant

Graveside services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road, for William Joseph Taylor, stillborn infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley (Glenda) Taylor, 2033 Alton Ave., Madison.

The baby died at 3:19 p.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Other survivors include two brothers, Wesley and Wayne Taylor, and a sister, Dawn Taylor, all of Granite City; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Elam Brannan, all of St. Louis.

Details are given in the obituary column.

Backlog of Amsted orders increasing

Amsted Industries stockholders were told last week that Amsted's backlog of orders at Dec. 31, 1977, amounted to $181,000,000, compared to $176,000,000 at Sept. 30, 1977, and $126,000,000 a year ago.

Orders for freight car components made up the largest portion of the backlog and constituted the largest portion of increases in backlog over both a year ago and Sept. 30, 1977.

Approximately 32,000 new freight cars remain on order to be built, as compared to 23,000 a year ago and 29,000 at the beginning of the fiscal year.

American Steel Foundries, an Amsted division, operates the world's largest foundry of its type in Granite City. Rail car components are made here.

The backlog of orders for general industrial products at the end of the quarter was about the same as at the beginning of the fiscal year, but up significantly from the level a year ago, Amsted officials said.

Orders for construction and building products, which represent the smallest portion of the backlog, are down slightly from the start of the fiscal year, but up from a year ago.

Chairman Joseph B. Lantierman and President Goff Smith said net income in the first 1977-78 quarter ended Dec. 31 was $12,407,000, up $5,515,000 from the first three-month period a year ago.

Earnings per share rose to $2.31 from $1.28 and net income was 7.9 percent of net sales, compared to 5.7 percent.

Lantierman and Smith said that "net income in the March quarter is expected to be up significantly from the disappointing quarter last year."

"However, because of the usual adverse affect of seasonal factors on construction and building products, results for the second fiscal quarter will be below the quarter just ended."

"A continuing high level of housing starts and a stable general economy are anticipated for the remainder of fiscal 1978."

"These factors, coupled with the expected good building rate of new freight cars, should result in another excellent year for Amsted."

The following is a summary of consolidated results for the three months just ended, with October-December 1976 listed second:

Net sales — $157,923,000 ($121,033,000)
Net income before taxes — $24,310,000 ($12,857,000)
Income taxes — $1,903,000 ($5,965,000)

Net income — $12,407,000 ($6,892,000); per share, $2.31 ($1.28)
Dividends — $3,497,000 ($2,687,000); per share, 65 cents (50 cents)

Accounts receivable at Dec. 31, 1977, were down slightly from the beginning of the quarter and remained under good control, with the number of days' sales outstanding about equal to both the beginning of the fiscal year and a year ago.

Inventories were up eight percent from the start of the fiscal year and 10 percent from a year ago.

At the stockholders' meeting, they ratified the appointment of Price Waterhouse & Co. to audit the accounts of the company for the 1978 fiscal year.

Stockholders adopted a resolution amending Amsted's certificate of incorporation to increase the authorized common stock from 10,000,000 shares of the par value of $1 each to 25,000,000 shares of the par value of $1 each. There are 5,380,480 shares outstanding.

Amsted Industries' board of directors declared the quarterly dividend of 65 cents per share payable on March 15 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on Feb. 17.

Amsted elected to its board of directors:

Thomas L. Martin Jr., president, Illinois Institute of Technology.

J. Thomas Schanck, president and chief executive officer, Signode Corp., Glenview, Ill.

Edward J. Williams, chairman, president and chief executive officer, McGraw-Edison & Co., Elgin, Ill.

The new directors fill vacancies created by the retirement of John T. Reitalista, chairman, Banco di Roma, an Amsted director since 1954; the retirement of Edwin Walcher Jr., former Amsted vice president, and a director since 1965; and the resignation of John P. Gallagher, chairman and president, Chemetron Corporation, an Amsted director since 1970.

Dr. Martin was elected president of the Illinois Institute of Technology in 1974 after a succession of teaching and administrative posts at other universities.

He is a director of the Stewart-Warner Co., Inland Steel Co. and Mark Controls Corp. His home is in Chicago.

Schanck joined Signode in 1954. He was elected vice president — corporate planning in 1970, executive vice president and director in 1972, and president and chief executive officer and member of the executive committee in 1973.

'Pop and Pretzel' concert Monday

The fifth annual "Pop and Pretzel" concert of Granite City High School North Concert Band will take place at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the North High cafeteria.

The traditional event has attracted capacity audiences in the previous four years, according to Robert D. Todoroff, band director.

Waiting on the tables and serving pretzels and soft drinks will be members of the national award-winning Northampton squad — "The Steel City Belles."

The group also will perform during the evening, Todoroff said.

Lighter music of wide variation will be performed by the 105-member concert band. Included on the program will be: "Fanfare for Rocky" by Bill Conti; selections from the Broadway musical, "Annie;" Theme from "Lawrence of Arabia;" "Barry Manilow in Concert."

"Big Band Dixie," featuring the Steel City Four Plus Two, whose members are Robin Munoz, clarinet; Kevin Rainwater, tenor sax; Dwayne Jorgensen, trumpet; Stewart Kinney, trombone; Khris Wheelan, drums, and Steve Hart, bass.

HIT-RUN VICTIM
David Worley, 23, of 2814 Edwards St., is recuperating from injuries suffered during the weekend when he was struck by a car in the 2500 block of Nameoki Road in front of the Plaza Shopping Center. The driver of the car that struck Worley fled the scene, police said. The accident occurred at 3:25 p.m. Saturday as Worley was walking along the road.

In the average community one out of three people knows the police emergency number. One out of 20 knows the fire emergency number. Almost no one has memorized the ambulance number.

That isn't the case for 50 million Americans living in the more than 700 communities that have adopted the universal emergency number 911, according to Ken Evers, Granite City manager of Illinois Bell. In Illinois, Chicago, Evanston, Moline, Peoria and 32 smaller communities have 911 service. Eight years ago on Dec. 1, 1968, Salem became the first community served by Illinois Bell to implement 911.

"We thought it would be a good service for the people and we're kind of proud of being number one," says LeRoy Daniels, acting police chief for the city, pointing out that was the birthplace of William Jennings Bryan.

In Salem every telephone has a 548 prefix. A 911 system is simple and inexpensive to implement. The two 911 lines and two administrative lines all come into an ordinary five-button telephone at the Salem Police Department.

During a recent 24-hour period there were 35 calls to the 911 number. The dispatcher refers non-police calls for all of Salem Township to the police department, Marion County sheriff or the state police. (Interstate 57 runs just west of the city.)

"Those weren't all emergency calls," Daniels pointed out. "I guess our only problem with 911 is that some people use it to call for general information. Unless we can give a quick answer, we tell them it is an emergency line and ask them to call our other number."

A 1975 Illinois law requires 911 to be in use statewide by 1985. Jeff Rogerson, Illinois Bell's 911 coordinator, and his staff of five are working with 450 communities to enable them to meet this deadline. The telephone company's role is to cooperate with municipal officials and public safety agencies in planning 911 systems.

However, the community agencies must take the initiative as to the type of 911 service they want and the service must meet standards set by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

"We can't just push a button and give everyone 911 simultaneously," Rogerson points out. "There are four kinds of 911 systems and communities have to weigh the alternatives."

First, there is a basic 911 system that serves one community. Eighteen of Illinois Bell's present 21 systems are of this type. In addition to Salem, this includes the 911 systems in Evanston, Mount Vernon and Vandalia (all implemented in 1970), Plano (1972), Oak Park (1973), Brookfield, Crystal Lake and Moline (1974); Glenview, Marengo, Tinley Park, Wilmette and Woodstock (1975); Chicago and Peoria (1976); and Naperville and Oak Forest (1977).

The second type of 911 system starts with a multi-jurisdictional approach. The model is Tri-Con serving Batavia, Geneva and St. Charles.

The third type of 911 system starts with a multi-jurisdictional approach. The model is Tri-Con serving Batavia, Geneva and St. Charles. The system is a "total success," Jerald Belk, communications supervisor-manager for Tri-Con, wrote in an article published in a recent issue of Law and Order, an independent magazine serving the police profession. The police departments for the three communities, fire districts, Kane County sheriff and state police are on the same radio network.

An outgrowth of the cooperative venture has been the "closest call" concept which has further shortened response time in emergencies. Forest Park and River Forest have had a dual answering system since 1973. The Highland Park system implemented in 1977 also serves Highland.

The third kind of 911 system is a county-wide approach with the answering point at the sheriff's office or county building. Even in those counties where several telephone companies operate, it will be relatively simple to route the calls from every exchange to the answering point. A dispatcher can then manually refer a request for emergency aid to the proper agency.

There are many counties in Illinois that will have this kind of system," Rogerson predicts. The fourth type of 911 system, still being researched, is known as a Selective Routing System. In the area surrounding Chicago where 244 communities are served by 117 telephone switching offices, much interest has been shown in this computerized solution to the problem posed when boundaries of public safety agencies and telephone exchanges do not coincide.

"The concept is fairly simple," Rogerson said. "The public safety agencies will tell us which addresses they serve and we will match the addresses with the telephone numbers. Then a computer will route calls to 911 to the proper answering point."

"However, in many cases there will still be jurisdictional problems to solve," he added. "For instance, a fire district could include an incorporated area served by a police department and an unincorporated area served by the sheriff."

One of the biggest advantages of a computerized system is that the dispatcher can get a visual display of the telephone number and address of the person who has dialed 911. Aid can then be sent to callers who leave consciousness or are forced to leave the phone before giving sufficient detail on where to find them, without the necessity of tracing the call. In Chicago this feature has also significantly reduced false fire alarms.

Cities, Illinois short-changed by federal budget, tax plans?

By ROBERT ESTILL

Press-Record

Washington Bureau President Carter's budget and tax messages contain little that is positive for Illinois, according to Paul Simmons, head of the Illinois office in Washington, D.C.

"I have not had time to assess it fully, except to say it has no incredibly good news," Simmons said.

"There is no significant fiscal relief at all. This budget has no surprises and no money," Simmons' job is to try to pump as many federal dollars into Illinois as is possible, and he says the budget to aid in that task.

He notes that Mr. Carter's budget for fiscal 1979 (October 1978-September 1979) proposes about eight percent more spending than the current budget, but adds that a six percent inflation rate brings the actual amount of money for growth down to about two percent.

"And there is no significant money in either health or welfare, which are our big ticket items," he said.

He is concerned about the administration's transportation proposal, which would leave the states out of planning for highways in Chicago and other cities with a population of a million or more.

"As the governor has noted, roads do not end with city limits," Simmons said. Simmons' analysis of the tax package proposed by the president will have a negative effect on Illinois.

The tax cuts will not offset the Social Security tax increases which will take $13 billion out of Illinois through 1987, the Illinois Taxpayers' Federation said.

He said two of the tax "reform" proposals, if enacted, would hurt exports in the state that is the nation's largest exporter of manufactured goods and agricultural products.

Another would require payment of taxes now on profits generated abroad. Currently, individuals and corporations do not have to pay taxes on profits that are re-invested abroad; the tax comes when the money is "repatriated" (brought back to the U.S.), Simmons said.

"Whatever the merits of these proposals, they are two of the very few things we do to encourage exports," he said.

"It strikes me as pretty 'Mickey Mouse' to go after these two."

He said Congress is not likely to approve either proposal, but suggested they only dampen the economy at a time when it should be stimulated.

Simmons, of course, naturally views Carter administration proposals with a jaundiced eye; his boss, Gov. James Thompson, is frequently mentioned as a possible GOP rival for Mr. Carter in 1980.

But similar disapproval of the budget tax increases comes from the National Governors Association, and 37 of the governors are Democrats.

A budget analysis prepared by the NGA staff shows aid to state and local governments will just keep pace with inflation.

The federal share of state and local spending will decline to an estimated 26.5 percent in fiscal 1979, compared to an estimated 27.5 percent in the fiscal year which ends Sept. 30.

"On the whole, the budget does not cut growth in programs where state and local governments would be forced to make up the difference out of their own funds," said Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken and Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp in a joint statement.

"But it does not provide any new dollars that could be used to meet needs deferred during the recession."

Milliken, a Republican, is chairman of the NGA, and Democrat Shapp is chairman of the NGA's Committee on Executive Management and Fiscal Affairs.

They also expressed concern that the budget:

"Does not assist states with large unemployment compensation fund deficits, which may require increases in state payroll taxes."

"Does not increase federal participation in the Medicaid program."

"Falls $500 million short of the full authorization for water and sewer grants."

"Lacks major initiatives in rural development."

"Eliminates the tax exemption on pollution, hospital and some industrial revenue bonds, which would make it more difficult for some states to finance such projects."

"Retains the ceiling on funding for social service despite rising costs."

"Reduces law enforcement planning grants and does not fund a compensation program for crime victims."

Simmons and the governors are waiting for the next big shoe to drop March 15 when the president is scheduled to announce his urban policy.

The administration scrapped its tentative drafts in the face of criticism from Thompson and other governors that it ignored the role of the states and did not deal adequately with the problems of education and crime.

They are hopeful that Mr. Carter's ultimate plan for dealing with the problems of the cities will be more encouraging.

New property tax reform study a complicated task

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Governor James R. Thompson is trying to open a way for Illinois to avoid a taxation-revenue crisis of the kind that is already threatening to create havoc in several major states, including California and New York.

Thompson has announced formation of an ad-hoc commission to study property tax reform in Illinois. The commission will eventually make recommendations to the legislature on how the tax burden can be more fairly distributed among the major sources — the state sales and income taxes and the local property tax.

Illinois has been fortunate in recent years. Despite some slowdown in business, its major revenue sources — the income and sales tax — have held up well.

But where the problem is beginning to hurt is at the local level. Illinoisans are becoming increasingly angered over seemingly steadily rising property taxes.

Elsewhere in the United States, this sentiment is already stirring the winds of a grassroots tax revolt. Most who closely follow state government believe that Illinois cannot forestall a major tax-revenue crisis much beyond the early years of the 1980s. The real question is which taxes should be raised, and how can any increase be coupled with tax reforms to provide relief for those who need it most?

The answers to these questions will certainly not be easy.

If the new commission comes up with some, it will no doubt go down in history as one of the most able groups of its kind ever to function in this state.

A grassroots revolt against soaring local property taxes is well under way in California and is attracting some attention from interested Illinoisans.

Some pretty drastic action is contemplated in California and, to some students of state government, it's pretty much like throwing out the baby with the bathwater.

Through the initiative process, widely used in that state, Californians in June will vote on a proposal that would put a limit on real estate taxes, generally equal to one percent of the value of a residential property.

This would mean that a house with a market value of $70,000 could be taxed no more than $700.

State officials have warned that this kind of limitation would reduce local revenues in California by about $7 billion a year and result in chaos.

Democratic Gov. Jerry Brown, who like Thompson is regarded by many in politics as having his eye on the White House, is racing to head off the debate.

He is seeking to persuade the legislature within weeks to pass a bill that would reduce property taxes by about $1 billion a year and place strict limits on local-government spending.

But whether enactment of such a modified tax relief would placate the opposition is subject to question. The word from the West Coast is that tax-mad Californians haven't been so worked up about anything since the gold rush.

Less drastic, but still raising a storm, is a growing tax protest in New York, where rate taxpayers have forced Democratic Gov. Hugh Carey to propose cutting individual income taxes by $500 million a year.

With New York City on the rise, hopes for more, one wonders how the government could continue to function with such a steep slash in revenue.

The fires of tax protest have been lit not only in the two giant states, but in a number of others, including Colorado, Massachusetts, Tennessee, Michigan and Maryland.

Everyone wants a little placed on taxes, with little concern paid to the after-effects.

It would be naive to think that Illinois will be able to avoid a similar crisis indefinitely.

Had it not been for the income tax adopted under one-term Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, Illinois would have had its back to the fiscal wall long before this.

A high level of business activity in recent years has sustained a high rate of sales and income tax collections and enabled Illinois to retain a comparatively sound level of financial stability.

But few expect this situation to last indefinitely.

As Thompson noted in his press conference announcing the property tax reform commission, when you reduce one tax you are forced — under the workings of the system — to increase another.

The interrelationship between the state income-sales taxes and the local property tax is indeed a complex one. Both are needed to assure fiscal stability. If one is decreased, then the other must inevitably be increased.

How to fine tune them into a fair and reliable balance is the challenge.

Perhaps the tax study commission can come up with some new and bold proposals that will mean a miracle in the theory field of taxes.

But no one is counting on it. Probably the best Illinois can hope for from the commission are some recommendations that will enable the state to move through at least part of the 1980s without a crisis of the scope shaping up for California, New York and some other states.

Earlier rebates this year in circuit breaker program

State Representative Harold D. Byers (D-Highland) has announced that with the arrival of 1978, the eligible aged, blind and disabled have the opportunity to apply for rebates under the Senior Citizens and Disabled Persons Property Tax Relief Act, commonly called the circuit breaker program.

Byers said that "despite every effort made by the Department of Revenue to publicize this form of tax relief, my office continues to encounter people who do not realize they are eligible for rebates from the state of Illinois."

This law has been changed for rebates so that homeowners can use the amount of taxes paid in 1977 to apply for their rebates in 1978, rather than waiting until their tax bills come due. This change will allow homeowners to file any time after Jan. 1, 1978, for property tax relief and will mean that they will receive grants up to eight months earlier than in previous years. These early rebates will make the money available before the property tax payment is due.

"I am hopeful that those who meet the qualifications will apply for this assistance immediately," Byers said. The requirements are that the applicant be 65 or older or have a disability expected to last a year or more; have an annual income of less than $10,000; own property taxes on his residence; privilege tax on his mobile home, or rent his residence; and live in Illinois at the time he files an application.

"Despite social security retirement benefits and other pension plans, few of our senior citizens have a total income of $10,000 or more. These people have struggled through the years to own a home and now, with fixed incomes and rising prices, find increasing property taxes an economic burden. The circuit breaker law was designed to assist them by returning some of the money to the elderly homeowner," Byers said.

Byers emphasized that "this program is frequently confused with the Homestead Exemption Program, which allows for some reduction of property tax to the elderly homeowners. The circuit-breaker program is an additional form of tax relief."

"I am sure that many more are eligible and urge the public to bring this program to the attention of their family and friends. My office, 1110 Laurel, Highland, (818) 654-8294 or 2105 Vandavia, Suite C, Collinsville, (818) 248-8223 will have application forms and will be happy to be of any assistance to those who think they might qualify," Rep. Byers concluded.

TRIP TO DISNEY WORLD is presented to Mary Lou Smith, 2449 Illinois Ave., as a gift by Cohen's Foods, 2301 Illinois Ave. The presentation is made by Lou Cohen.

Driver licenses being renewed since Jan. 1 this year require a photo of the applicant, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon is reminding Illinoisans.

When the photo driver license program began last year, the state authorized a temporary option for renewals with or without a photo to drivers who were not required to take an examination.

"However, this option, as of Jan. 1, 1978, is no longer in effect. License renewal reminders mailed from the secretary of state's office now include a notice explaining that under state statute driver licenses issued Jan. 1 and after will include a photo," Dixon said. Instant photo licenses are available at all secretary of state driver license service facilities.

Social Security information free

Some mislead people into thinking that only their firm can provide accurate and up-to-date information about Social Security for a price, according to Miss Kenna Slusher, Social Security assistant district manager in East St. Louis.

This simply is not true, she said this week. People can get accurate information free at any Social Security office.

The offices have a variety of publications, describing all aspects of the Social Security programs of retirement, survivor and disability insurance benefits, Medicare and the Supplemental Security Income program, Miss Slusher added.

Some offer to obtain a statement of a worker's Social Security earnings if that person will buy a book or subscribe to a magazine.

"A person can get a postcard form to request a statement of earnings free at any Social Security office and at many other locations. There is no fee nor is there a need to buy anything to get this service," she added.

"There is another trick unscrupulous people try to pull. They will tell an unsuspecting person that, for a fee, they can insure that he or she will get Social Security benefits."

"Or, if that person already gets checks, that for a fee they will increase his or her benefits. A Social Security employee will never ask for a fee for performing any service."

"Employees will never promise that a person can get benefits or that benefits can be increased until they have all the facts necessary to make such a decision."

"A Social Security employee will be glad to show identification at all times."

"If a person is still not sure the individual is from Social Security, he or she should call the office and verify identification."

"Free information about all aspects of Social Security can be obtained from the East St. Louis office, located at 650 Missouri Ave. The telephone number is 274,4100."

Ainad to install

Ainad Temple nobility will host the Presentation of Officers dinner and stage program on Saturday, Feb. 11, at the Mosque, 609 St. Louis Ave., East St. Louis, featuring the installation of the newly-elected Potentate Jack Dempsey and the club and unit presidents.

A 5:30 p.m. dinner will precede the 8 o'clock ceremonies which will open with the appearance of Potentate Dempsey and his wife, Donna, before the entire Divan.

Entertainment for the evening will include the Jerri Straz Dancers, baritone and Hutton singing "Ole Man River" and magician Gene DeVoe.

Music for dancing will be provided by Russ David of St. Louis.

Stop-smoking clinics slated

Two eight-week stop-smoking clinics will be conducted for the general public at Barnes Hospital beginning March 6. Two groups limited to 25 participants each will be set up.

Each group will meet twice a week, on Mondays and Thursdays. One is scheduled for 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and the other for 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The fee will be $12, and anyone interested may call the Barnes education and training department at (314) 454-3606.

Barnes is one of ten hospitals nationwide selected to conduct pilot stop-smoking clinics co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, American Hospital Association and American Society for Health Manpower Education and Training.

Results of the clinics at Barnes and the other nine hospitals will be evaluated by ASCHEP, which will prepare a guidebook for use during the future to enable all U.S. hospitals to offer the clinics.

Marilyn Moss, instructor in the Barnes education Cancer Society's St. Louis unit, are coordinating the clinics. It is expected that Barnes will be the site of training sessions for area hospitals when the first year.

Riskovsky to run for Lions district governor's post

Jim Riskovsky, Madison, who is a member of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club, announced his candidacy for District I-G governor at a dinner meeting held in Pontoon Beach at the D-A-P Restaurant.

Lion Riskovsky chose to make his announcement the special dinner meeting at which present I-G District Governor Ross Gates of the Palmyra Lions Club, was a guest.

Gov. Gates, who is not seeking re-election, retires from office on June 31.

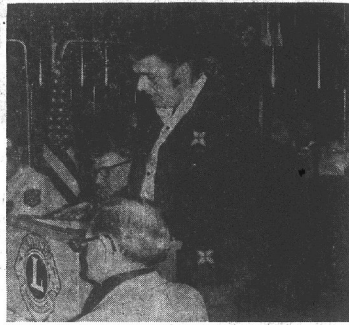

There are 50 Lions clubs in 12 southwestern Illinois counties that make up the district, which is divided into four regions.

Riskovsky is deputy district governor of Region Four.

Lion observers indicate that a close battle is expected between Riskovsky of the southern part of the district which includes clubs in Granite City, Madison and Edwardsville, and the Region One Deputy District Governor John Spurrier of Quincy.

The election will be held during the district convention in Palmyra, Ill., on Sunday, April 9.

Gov. Gates, who was making his annual visit, complimented the Pontoon Beach Lions Club on its recent membership drive. He also stated he was most impressed with the club's civic

4th quarter up, but National Steel '77 earnings are down

National Steel Corporation earned $60,125,161, or $3.12 per share in 1977, a 29.9 percent decline from the year-earlier $85,737,497, or $4.53 per share, the 1977 annual report showed Monday night.

Fourth quarter, 1977, earnings increased 8.8 percent to $16,466,533, or 88 cents per share, compared with $15,135,690, or 79 cents per share in the similar 1976 quarter.

National Steel's divisions include Granite City Steel.

Sales and operating revenue for the year rose 10.5 percent to a record $3,138,860,730, compared with $2,840,541,933 for 1976.

Fourth quarter National Steel sales rose 17.7 percent to $758,057,594, versus $644,353,566 for the 1976 quarter.

"Earnings for 1977 were reduced by a number of adverse events that will not be with us to the same degree in 1978, including severe weather conditions early in the year, an alarming increase in foreign steel imports and costly strikes at our coal and ore mines," National's chairman, George A. Stinson, said.

"While the combination of these events reduced net income to an unsatisfactory 1.9 percent of sales, the outlook for 1978 is brighter and we believe it could be a good year."

"Our facilities are now among the most modern in the industry. Our inventories are lean. And the corporation is well-positioned to capitalize on market opportunities this year."

"Fourth quarter earnings showed the benefits of intensive cost-control programs, a reduction in inventories, and increases in shipments and revenues."

"Further gains during this period were restricted by substantial costs incurred with start-up of the new continuous caster at our Great Lakes Steel Division, strikes at ore and coal mines, and lower, less-efficient rates of production," Stinson said.

Primary steel production in 1977 decreased 12.9 percent to 5,778,100 tons, compared with 6,570,000 tons in 1976.

Fourth quarter production was 2,143,100 tons, compared with 2,669,000 tons a year ago. Shipments in 1977 totaled 7,621,300 tons, down 1.8 percent, compared with 7,884,300 tons in 1976. Fourth quarter shipments were 1,695,400 tons, compared with 1,628,500 tons in the 1976 quarter.

"Prospects for the new year are encouraging, as many of the problems that beset us in 1977 are not likely to recur, while others show signs of marked improvement."

"Thus far this year, our operations have not been significantly affected by weather or natural gas shortages," Stinson noted.

"Work stoppage, at our ore mines were resolved in December and operations have resumed."

"Although the coal strike continues, substantial quantities of coal and coke were stockpiled before the strike began."

"Only one of our divisions, Werten Steel, has been advised by a utility of a potential reduction in electrical supply as a result of the coal strike," Stinson added.

State ruling on veterans' scholarships

Attorney General William J. Scott, in a formal legal opinion, has advised that the costs of veterans' scholarships fall to state-controlled colleges or universities, if the legislature does not appropriate enough funds to the Illinois Department of Veterans' Affairs for that purpose.

The opinion was requested by James R. Washburn, director of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. Washburn had questioned whether the cost rests with the veteran or the school when appropriated funds are insufficient.

Scott said statutes authorizing veterans' scholarships for Illinois residents clearly intended to provide tuition-free education to qualified veterans.

He said the authorizing laws fall within the exemption of "expressly authorized by law," thus avoiding budgetary limitations imposed on state agencies by finance statutes. He also cited court opinions that where a statute categorically commands the performance of an act, as much money as is necessary to pay the command may be disbursed without explicit appropriation.

Bank women to meet

A joint meeting of the Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter of the American Institute of Bank Women and the Metropolitan St. Louis Group, National Association of Bank Women, will be held at the Bel-Air Hilton, Fourth and Washington, on Thursday, Feb. 16.

Asie Taylor Morton, the 36th treasurer of the United States, will address the meeting. A social hour at 6 will be followed by dinner at 7 p.m. All interested bank personnel are being invited to attend by Nancy Riley, 291-0660.

In Loving Memory of
ROBERT F. GIBBONS
February 3, 1968
Since you've gone first and I remain
One thing I'll have you do,
Walk slowly down that long, long path
For some day I'll follow you,
I want to know each step you take.
So I can take the same
For some day down that lonely road,
You will hear me call your name.

God granted us an angel
To call our very own, Whose constant love and comfort
Are the greatest gifts we've known.
Though we search around the

We will never find another
Who would compare in word

With the "angel" we called Mother.

$79 million more for universities and $103 million for ill. schools

Governor James R. Thompson said Tuesday that a record-breaking education budget for Illinois totaling more than $3.2 billion will be recommended in his March 1 budget message to the General Assembly.

The governor said he will recommend General Funds increases totaling $182 million for higher education and elementary and secondary education in Illinois for the 1979 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

In the proposed budget for FY 79, Gov. Thompson recommended total new spending from all sources of $266 million for education.

Thompson said his FY 79 budget will include:

— General Funds spending increase for elementary and secondary schools of $103 million over FY 78.

— General Funds spending increase for higher education of $79 million over FY 78.

The governor made his education budget recommendations in letters to Jack Wilgowsky, chairman of the State Board of Education, and Dr. Donald M. Prince, chairman of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

He asked both boards to recommend allocations of the available funds as soon as possible.

Thompson said that education, as in the past year, would "continue to be the high priority" in the administration.

For the second year, he released the education budget well in advance of the rest of the state budget to allow educators time for budgeting and planning.

In the governor's budget, which will be submitted to the General Assembly March 1, he recommended $2.25 billion in appropriations for elementary and secondary education.

Included in that amount, the governor said, will be a recommendation for the State Board of Education for $10.3 million from the State's Driver Education Fund and $390 million in federal funds for elementary and secondary education.

"The amount of state funds I am recommending will provide an estimated $901 of state aid per pupil, an increase of 8.8 percent over fiscal year 1978," he said.

Thompson added that if projected inflation rates are factored out, the state funds will provide a real dollar growth of approximately three percent per pupil in FY 79.

"The amount of state funding I am recommending is sufficient to raise the guaranteed per-pupil support level in the resource equalizer formula, and to fully fund mandated category grant programs at statutorily-required levels," he said.

For higher education, the proposed budget will recommend an appropriation of $955.2 million, including a General Revenue Fund increase of $79 million, or 10.3 percent above FY 78 expenditures.

Thompson said, "I ask that the Board of Higher Education give serious attention to the level of state support for the university retirement system. I strongly suggest that the allocation provide funding of the gross benefit payment level."

"I specifically support the recommended pay increases suggested by the board, and I am assured that the level of support I am recommending is sufficient to fund that request," he said.

The Board of Higher Education earlier this month recommended that public university staff members receive eight percent salary increases, with lower-paid civil service employees recommended for 10 percent hikes.

Also, the board recommended that community college staff receive six percent salary hikes.

Gov. Thompson also said, "Continued internal funding reallocations and other management measures, which I have recommended, will enable Illinois to maintain its leadership position nationally as a provider of quality of education programs and services."

"Early notification of my budget recommendations is intended to allow planning of fiscal year 1979 operations to begin as early as possible. Your timely response to my allocation request will be greatly appreciated by all higher education agencies and institutions in the state."

The governor plans to meet with the respective boards as soon as possible to discuss the budget recommendations with them.

The Rev. William G. Chrystal, pastor of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, will give the worship at the Feb. 15 service at the Presbyterian Church.

According to the rotating plan for the annual services, the third and fourth service, Feb. 22 and March 1, will be at Niedringhaus Methodist, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue.

The Rev. David Maxton, the First Presbyterian Church minister, will present the sermon on Feb. 22, and Rev. Chrystal will officiate at the March 1 service.

Lions Club hearing service unit to be in Quad-Cities

Quad-City Lions clubs will sponsor the Lions Mobile Hearing Service Unit here on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Feb. 22, 23 and 24.

The unit will offer free hearing screenings to area residents.

Hearing loss is the most common physical disability in the U. S., touching over 15 million adults and 3 million children, the effects of hearing loss are subtle and yet devastating over time. The earlier the problem is professionally evaluated, the better the chances for successful treatment, according to a club spokesman.

The unit will be hosted by the Granite City Lions Club on Wednesday, Feb. 22; the Pontoon Beach Lions Club on Thursday, Feb. 23, and the Madison Lions Club on Friday, Feb. 24. Location of the unit will be announced later.

It is estimated that seven of every 100 persons have some degree of hearing impairment. One half of all hearing impaired are over 65 years of age. Many persons are not receiving the treatment they need. Some persons will not admit that they have a hearing problem; others are not aware of their hearing loss, according to Lions sources.

When the unit arrives, Lions and volunteers will help welcome adults wishing to take the simple hearing test.

Local Lions planning the joint Quad-City Lions hearing service project are: Granite City Lions President Harley Davis and club project chairman, Otis Gonnell; Madison Lions President Emmett Pauls and club project chairman, Al Hudick; and Pontoon Beach Lions President Richard G. McIntosh and club project chairman, Donald D. Patrick.

In addition to screening, individual hearing and hearing aid evaluations will be offered to adults in the communities.

Hearing impairment can be a serious problem when it effects ability to communicate. Communication is our most human characteristic, club officers noted. When a person cannot communicate, he is isolated from friends, family and society.

Besides affecting communication, hearing impairment also can be a serious medical problem. In many instances, a hearing loss can be eliminated or reduced by medical treatment if detected early enough, they said.

Area cancer chairman

Alfred C. Hagemann of Edwardsville will again serve as Cancer Crusade chairman for the American Cancer Society's District Eight, which includes the counties of Madison, Jersey, Bond, Monroe, Clinton and St. Clair.

As chairman of one of the eight districts for the April 1978 effort in Illinois, Hagemann will mobilize Cancer Crusade volunteers to reach as many residents as possible with a life saving message while working toward their share of the statewide financial goal of over $4 million for the expansion of programs in cancer research, education and service.

Hagemann, a native of Staunton, Ill., graduated from Southern Illinois University in June 1963 with a bachelor of science degree in accounting. He joined the firm of Arthur Andersen and Co. immediately after graduation and is presently a tax partner in the St. Louis office.

He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Edwardsville Optimist Club. Hagemann served as District Eight Crusade chairman in 1975 and 1976 when more funds were raised than ever before, according to Thad Carter, bond chairman of the Madison County Cancer Unit.

The Crusade chairman, his wife and their two daughters reside on Rural Route 7 in Edwardsville.

Melvin Taylor dies at home

Melvin H. Taylor Sr., 69, of 2211 Bryan Ave., was found in bed without signs of life by his wife, Mrs. Eva Taylor, and was pronounced dead at the scene by William Sternberg, Madison County deputy coroner, at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

He had been ill two years. An 18-year resident of Granite City, Mr. Taylor was born in Trigg County, Ky.

He was employed at the Community Tire Co., St. Louis, as a custodian for four years.

Mr. Taylor was a member of the Second Baptist Church.

Other survivors include five sons, Melvin Jr., William, James and Richard Taylor, all of Granite City, and Paul Taylor, June Beach, Fla.; one daughter, Mrs. Neal (Elizabeth) Stewart of Harrison, Ark.; two brothers, Howard Taylor of Nashville, Tenn., and Lewis Taylor of Pembroke, Ky.; three sisters, Mrs. Ruby Boren, Cadiz, Ky., Mrs. Beas Taylor, Edmonds, Hopkinsville, Ky., and Mrs. Dorothy Boyd, Elkhart, Ky.; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

METAL ART WORK taught at the Granite City High School South is displayed Tuesday. Miss Ann Rich, left, Art Four teacher, and Pat Dittamore, right, show some of their work. The ring on Pat's right little finger is sterling silver made with the lost wax process. The pendants and bracelets are made of brass and are hand forged. Eugene L. Ainsart, art consultant for the school district, noted that these works of art are not seen at the annual spring "Acres of Art Show," and due to their value are not normally on display. They are kept under lock and key until finished. The metal art objects normally are taken home by the student who makes them. Miss Rich made the necklace she is wearing, which forms her initials AR, from sterling silver.

Offer forms for aid to students

Applications for financial aid for the 1978-79 year are available at the SUIE Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

John Jennett, director, has announced that students who currently receive some type of financial aid will automatically be mailed forms which must be completed annually to renew their awards.

Enter freshmen or transfer students may obtain the necessary applications by contacting the office, located in Room 2308 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Two forms are required to make application for assistance. Students must complete the regular SUIE form for financial aid and the College Scholarship Service's Financial Aid Form (FAF).

The FAF must be sent directly to the College Scholarship Service.

In addition to evaluating the need for aid at SUIE, the FAF can also be used to apply for the federal basic grant program, Jenett said.

"This eliminates the need to file an extra form for the basic grant program and is a major change from prior years," he said.

Illinois state scholarship monetary award program applications are also available and should be filed as soon as possible, he added.

Information on all types of financial aid available to students attending SUIE, and the necessary forms, may be obtained by contacting the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, Box 60, SUIE, Edwardsville 62026.

Candidate would fight for airport

"If I'm elected state representative from the 56th District, you can be sure that you will have a hard fight for the Illinois location of a new metropolitan airport," Joan Seamen told the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education screening committee during the weekend.

"I can also assure you that I will also be fighting doubly hard to see that the Alton Lock and Dam 26 project moves forward as quickly as possible. All you have to do is see the jam of tows in weather like we are presently facing to realize the urgency of getting this project moving."

"Brock Adams will not always be secretary of Transportation. If the Missouri people want to make the airport a matter of raw power politics, let's fight fire with fire."

"In the past, my association with Arven Saunders has given me a clear understanding of the necessity of locating the airport in Illinois."

"To do so is even in the best interests of Missourians, although shortsighted politicians and power brokers have foisted a monstrous public deception on this matter."

In her appearance before the committee, she also indicated her opposition to a tuition increase at public universities. She called for fuller funding for public schools, and voiced her general opposition to anti-labor legislation. In particular, she singled out so-called right-to-work laws, which she contended would destroy the union shop.

She emphasized her experience with redistricting on the local level, adding that the redistricting process that will take place after the 1990 census is crucial to the future of the labor movement and to the Democratic Party in Illinois.
